Wind, snow, cold close schools, hamper traffic

All schools in the Quad-City area and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were closed today after Sunday's snow storm clogged streets and highways with an additional six inches of snow and slowed most traffic to a standstill.

Added to three inches of snow already on the ground from the Jan. 4 storm, the area was covered with nine inches of snow as yesterday's storm tapered off during the evening. High winds caused drifting in many places, adding to the woes of street and highway workers who reported that roadways became covered within a short time after plows had scraped them clean.

Cold temperatures also added to the weather problems. Temperatures hit a high of only 12 degrees Sunday afternoon and skidded to a low of 4 degrees below zero last night when most of the street and highway crews were fighting the snowdrifts. Winds reached gusts of 30 miles per hour, resulting in a chill factor of 50 degrees below zero at the peak of last night's cold.

The National Weather Service at St. Louis reported that the snowfall in the weekend storm ended early today, but that more snow is on the way. There is a chance of snow Wednesday and again on Friday, the forecast said. Continued bitter cold also appears in the offing with

Steel upturn seen

Cautious optimism regarding 1977 was voiced Friday by Robert D. McBride, president of the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation, who said the optimism includes rising demand from manufacturers of agricultural machinery and other heavy equipment and users of steel roofing and siding panels for buildings.

"A close-to-home note of encouragement is found at the A. O. Smith Corp. plant in Granite City. It is forecasting increased shipments for 1977 over a high level of activity in 1976," McBride commented.

"The Smith auto frame plant announced plans in recent weeks to construct a major addition to its facilities. 'We see an upturn for most capital goods industries in 1977,' McBride said.

"Business is in a highly liquid position. Any lessening of present uncertainties about the economy will generate an improved rate of spending. 'With increased spending for plant and equipment, there is a corresponding improvement in the demand for steel.

"Granite City Steel acquired a major new customer in the second quarter of 1976 when the National Pipe and Tube Co., a National Steel subsidiary, opened a new plant on the Texas Gulf coast and began production of welded oil-country pipe and tubing.

"National Pipe and Tube expects a more favorable market in 1977, and our shipments to them should improve substantially."

The Granite City Steel president forecast a 15 per cent increase in shipments to customers. He expects a small increase in employment to a level of about 4,500.

"We had record high shipments in 1976 of our color-coated Strongpanel roofing and siding.

"Strongpanel continues to improve its position in the market for farm building materials, and to acquire new uses in the light-commercial and industrial building fields.

"We are one of the leading producers of galvanized steel roofing and siding. The demand was good for most of 1976 but weakened in the fall due to the drought, unfavorable commodity prices and election uncertainties," McBride related.

"We had a substantially iron and steel industry to produce despite a year-end downturn.

Production and shipments were well ahead of the recession year of 1975, and so was employment as a whole.

"We completed major rebuilding of our largest coke oven battery.

"In April 1976, we began construction of a fourth slab reheating furnace for our hot strip mill. This $14 million project will take about two years to complete.

"The furnace will add 30 per cent to the capacity of the hot strip mill and create 65 new production jobs.

UNDERCOVER OPERATION. A ten-months covert operation by federal agents of the Department of Treasury Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), in cooperation with Venice police, resulted in numerous arrests Friday on federal warrants. Undercover agents purchased approximately $500,000 worth of stolen merchandise, some of which is pictured above. The items included numerous guns of different caliber, automobiles, television sets, cameras, bicycles and other items. The operation was aimed chiefly at reducing the illicit traffic in guns.

Twelve persons have been charged and additional arrests are anticipated in connection with the sales of stolen merchandise to federal agents in Venice during the past 10 months.

In March, special undercover agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Department of the U.S. Treasury, opened Ed's Swap Shop in North Venice, spreading the word they would purchase guns and stolen property. That operation culminated in a series of coordinated arrests Friday morning.

For 10 months, the undercover agents purchased guns, stolen television sets, automobiles, cameras, bicycles and other items, carefully marking each for later identification, including information on who sold the item to the agents.

The agents estimated the value of the purchased items at $50,000 and noted they were purchased for "rock-bottom" prices.

Among the major purchases of the agents were five automobiles, allegedly sold by four men. Saved-off shotguns also were purchased, which are in violation of the federal gun control act.

Numerous small, cheap handguns, known as "Saturday night specials" also were purchased by the agents.

"We were in business primarily to purchase guns, but it was necessary to purchase other items in order to protect our cover," James W. Elder, special agent in charge of the St. Louis District for the ATF Bureau, told the Press-Record.

The order that a multiplying factor be applied against Granite City assessments was issued by the Board of Review after a meeting Friday in which Barton explained that an increase in assessments is necessary to bring the assessment ratio to at least 31.34 per cent of fair cash value.

Barton said the Granite City ratio last year was at slightly less than 30.50 per cent, and was slightly less than that amount at the beginning of this year.

According to figures supplied by Barton to the review board,

He said prices on other items were kept low, to discourage their sale to the swap shop. As an example, he cited three or four citizens' band radios purchased by the agents in the

Dies of burns

Thomas B. Adams, 51, of 2605 Cayuga St., died at 12:30 a.m. Friday in Barnes Hospital where he had been a burn patient since Dec. 29.

Mr. Adams suffered burns when a propane heater in the cab of a balling machine exploded. He was employed at the Chemetco Corp., Highway

Three, as a balling operator. Mitchell firemen were called to the scene at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 29, and extinguished the cab fire. Mr. Adams was hospitalized by employees who extinguished flames in his clothing. He was taken to Wood River Township

Steelmakers face energy challenge

American steelmakers can achieve their goal of reducing energy consumption per ton of shipped steel by eight per cent by 1980 and can do even better through 1990 — but only if sufficient capital is available to carry out required equipment and process modifications.

This and other energy-related matters are discussed in the current issue of STEEL '76. The magazine, published quarterly by the American Iron and Steel Institute, focuses through words, charts and photographs on all facets of energy — coal, nuclear, oil, wind, solar, geothermal and water.

STEEL '76 notes that the domestic steel industry has for a number of years used five to six per cent of all energy consumed in the United States, or between 15 and 20 per cent of the energy consumed by U.S. industry. This makes it the second largest energy user in the country.

Because it is a highly energy-intensive industry, the trend of iron and steelmakers to produce (Continued on Page 6)

Standard time instead of daylight saving time.
Usually, these mean more nighttime driving. And this requires greater care in driving.
The death rate for nighttime automobile accidents is almost three times higher than the daytime rate.

One of the causes of nighttime accidents is poor lighting—your car's headlights and rear lights.
Here are some suggestions for safer and brighter nighttime driving:

PTA hearing on TV violence is Jan. 25

In its continuing effort to give the public a forum on one of the most controversial issues today — TV violence and its effects on children — the National PTA is holding the fourth in its series of eight regional public hearings in Chicago on Tuesday, Jan. 25, at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel. The day-long hearing, part of the PTA's massive project on TV violence, will draw participants and audience from the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Several local residents have expressed a desire to attend the hearings, according to Mrs. Dorothy Baker, president of the Granite City Area Council of Parent and Teacher Association. Anyone wishing more information is advised to contact Mrs. Baker at 452-7159 after 5:30 p.m. or by mail at 2428 St. Clair Ave. First of its kind, the project has been designed to focus public attention on the potential effects of video violence on youngsters, and the need for better quality and more diversity in TV programming. Subsequent hearings are scheduled for four other cities during February, including Dallas (Feb. 1); Portland, Ore. (Feb. 8); Hartford, Conn. (Feb. 15); and Los Angeles (Feb. 22). Hearings have already been held in Pittsburgh; Kansas City, (Kans.); and Atlanta. "We believe there is a causal relationship between violence seen on TV, and aggressive, violent behavior among children," says Carol Kimmel, national PTA president. "Not every child, or course, imitates what he sees on television, but the results of recent research indicate that there are children whose aggressive and even hostile actions are stimulated by watching TV violence. Of even greater concern, though, is the gradual desensitization of our children to the human suffering which results from violent actions. Exposed to a steady barrage of TV violence, their ability to distinguish between real and imaginary hostility can become impaired, so that real violence fails to arouse compassion or disgust."

"In taking our case to the people — via these public hearings — we believe that we can further substantiate our viewpoint. If 71 per cent of the public already thinks that TV programs are too violent, (according to a recent poll by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N.J.), this belief should be reflected in the testimony provided at the hearings. One can reasonably assume that if the current TV diet is too rich in violence for adults, then they would object to it for their children," Mrs. Kimmel added.

During the Chicago hearing, which will provide a total of 12½ hours of public testimony, (9:00 a.m. - 9:30 p.m.), persons representing a broad spectrum of society will be testifying and composing the audience for the event. PTA members and the general public; parents, teachers and students; state superintendents of public instruction; school administrators; law enforcement officials; professionals in mental health and the social services — all will have input into this comprehensive survey of public opinion.

According to Mary Leon of Chicago, coordinator for the hearing, approximately 400 persons from the various states are expected to attend. "A healthy turnout is anticipated," says Mrs. Leon, "because the subject is receiving so much public attention now, and people seem to have very strong views, both pro and con. We are extending an open invitation to the general public to join us as audience for the event, as well as to testify."

When all eight public hearings have been completed, a final report will be created, based upon the collective testimony. During the next phase of the project, in spring and summer, an action plan will be developed which will directly involve PTA members from the organization's 32,000 local units in elementary and high schools throughout the country. Participation will include parents' monitoring and evaluating the TV programs watched by their children; submission of their findings to their local unit presidents, who, in turn, will furnish consensus reports to the National PTA; and a national campaign of letter writing and personal visits to local TV stations, the networks, sponsors of violent TV shows, the Federal Communications Commission, and legislators. If these actions don't bring results, local stations may have their licenses challenged, and formal complaints may be lodged with the FCC.

"We're not interested in placing all the responsibility on the doorsteps of the networks, nor in censoring TV programs," says Mrs. Kimmel. "What we are trying to do is to make both parents and the decision-makers in the communications industry aware of their mutual responsibility for reducing TV violence and improving the overall quality of programming."

"Through this project, we're hoping to increase parents' awareness of the negative effects of TV violence on children; urge them to take more responsibility for supervising their youngsters' TV viewing; and motivate them to make their views known to the appropriate individuals and organizations. But that's only part of the picture. We also feel that the networks, local stations and advertisers should respond to public opinion and the public interest by aggressively and voluntarily pursuing ways to reduce TV violence," Mrs. Kimmel reports.

Filing opens today for April 19 voting

Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold and a ticket of seven other candidates for city offices filed nominating petitions at Venice this morning as the filing period for the April 19 municipal elections opened. Filing for commissioner posts on the Granite City and Venice Park Boards also opened today. Ebersold is seeking reelection as mayor on a City Improvement Party ticket which includes Lloyd Patterson, incumbent city clerk, seeking reelection, and William Griggs, new city building inspector, as a candidate for city treasurer. Griggs seeks the office now held by Henry Baucum who has announced he is retiring from public office.

Also on the ticket are the four incumbent aldermen whose terms expire this year. Seeking reelection are E. Harry Buevitz, First Ward; Hank Suenza, Second Ward; John Ervin, Third Ward, and Tyrone Echols, Fourth Ward. Only one filing was reported this morning in Madison. C. S. "Casey" Krakowecski, Madison's Civil Defense director, filed petitions as a candidate for Third Ward alderman.

There were no filings at Pontoon Beach this morning where it was reported petitions are in circulation by the three incumbent trustees whose terms expire this year. They are Raymond Gaudette Jr., Donald C. Rea and Paul Bennett.

Two candidates filed petitions in the Granite City Park District election which will be held April 9. They are Michael J. Jesse and Henry Gabriel. Jesse is an incumbent. His term and that of Barry Loman expire this year. Loman is expected to file as a candidate.

No filings were reported today in the Venice Park election.

News notes

Governor James R. Thompson, being inaugurated today, is considering converting some of the little-used state mental health facilities to help remedy the shortage of prisons. Mental centers will be inspected to determine whether such changes are feasible.

The 131-bed Oliver C. Anderson Hospital opened Thursday at Routes 162-150. The $6.7 million building with $1.5 million equipment was financed by $1,000,000 in contributions and additional funds derived from $10,000,000 in tax-exempt revenue bonds. Dr. Peter Bartsch heads the $5-million medical staff. Of the $5 million yearly budget, $3 million is for 235 employees' wages. Daniel Hicks, administrator, said.

Coffee futures prices, which have almost quadrupled during the past 18 months, dropped nearly nine cents a pound Friday in the third consecutive session of active selling of contracts.

County Auditor John L. Kravak and the Finance Committee will begin auditing this week as part of the semi-annual audit of accounts of the recorder, sheriff, coroner, circuit clerk and county clerk.

A proposed plan to end a major tax shelter for builders was ordered withdrawn last week by the Treasurer secretary hours after it had been published by the Internal Revenue Service.

Illinois Medicaid costs have risen nearly 300 per cent since 1970.

Retiring Governor Daniel Walker's announcement of a statewide law firm, including ultimately an office in Madison, St. Clair County, is being assailed as a possible violation of the legal profession's code against advertising.

An official of the Illinois secretary of state's office said Friday morning James Thompson had no legal right to drive a leased auto with dealer plates for a week or 25 days during his campaign.

Legislators last week agreed on a compromise bill to cut back on the number of employees entitled to overtime pay under a new state law.

Hospital and then transferred to Barnes; 90 per cent of his body had suffered third-degree burns.

He attended the Victory Pentecostal Church of God in Granite City.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Adams; one son, Thomas Adams Jr., of California; two daughters, Miss Gail Adams of California and Larry Blankley of Granite City; four brothers, Bill Adams of Granite City, Frank Adams of Toledo, Ill., and Don and Mike Adams, both of Alton; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur (Diane) Means of Granite City, and Mrs. Reatha Elliott of California; his father, Ralph Adams of Granite City, and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are listed in today's obituary column. Services were to take place today at a Granite City funeral home.

No filings were reported today in the Venice Park election.

$20,500 damage caused by fire

Fire caused an estimated $14,000 damage to the structure and $6,500 damage to the contents at 2915 Harding Ave. at 7:15 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen who were at the scene four hours, believe a faulty heater in the garage malfunctioned, causing the fire. At 12:45 a.m. today a fire destroyed a 1967 auto belonging to Ted Wasylak, 2313 Grand Ave. Firemen were at the scene 30 minutes and estimated $1,300 damage to the car.

A spokesman for the fire department said that the cause was unknown.

WOMAN IS INJURED

Mrs. Frances Tadlock, 28, of 60 Parkview West Mobile Home Park, was injured in an auto accident Thursday and was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:15 p.m. Thursday. She said her auto was struck from behind. She suffered pain to her back and shoulder and was released after x-rays were taken.

MADISON MAN HURT

David Griggs, 27, of 1014 rear College St., Madison, was injured in an auto accident and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:15 p.m. Thursday. He suffered swelling to his right hand and pain to his chest and stomach. X-rays were taken and he was released.

COUGAR FIVE WINS

STUE basketball players won $240 Saturday night at Jeffersonville, Ind., over Indiana University-Southeast. After trailing 40-38 at the half, the visiting Cougars gained the lead and Stue's closing rally fell short. The Grenadiers are now 4-6 for the year. Kell Peebles scored 27 points to pace the 3-4 Cougars, who are slated to play tonight at Quincy. STUE will open its home season at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Edwardsville High School against Missouri Baptist U. GCHS North's pep band and squad will entertain prior to the game.

TAKE RENT RECEIPTS

Several hundred dollars in cash and checks were stolen from the home of Marilyn Schneider, 2 Fairway Estates, Arlington Heights, between 12 p.m. Thursday and Friday morning, when the burglary was discovered.

Births

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Hospital:

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nolan, 2576 Waterman Ave., Jan. 6, Christine Marie, eight pounds, five ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Johnson, St. Jacob, Ill., Jan. 7, Jennifer Inez, five pounds, eight ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Babcock, Rural Route 20, Granite City, Jan. 8, Tracy Lynn, seven pounds, seven ounces.

Threats are voiced in 2 phone calls

Two bomb threats have been made by telephone with an apparent attempt to extort money from a business and from a bank. Similar voice characteristics were reported in each incident.

At 5:25 p.m. Thursday a man called an officer of the Trust and Savings bank and voiced intentions to rob the bank and damage the building.

The manager of George Lindsey's Family Restaurant, 3301 Nantuxi Road, received a phone call at 10:45 p.m. Friday from a man saying that a "bomb" had been placed.

The manager was instructed to put $2,000 in a paper bag and leave it in a specific place nearby. If the instructions were followed, the caller said, he would call back and advise where a bomb could be found. Searches showed nothing.

temperatures expected to reach a high of 5 to 10 above this afternoon and drop to 5 to 10 below tonight.

The Weather Service said temperatures may rise into the teens Tuesday afternoon. Lows are forecast for 6 to 10 above Wednesday through Friday, with highs about 20.

Granite City Street Superintendent, Lionel Portelli said that three crews were called out Sunday afternoon and three street graders were put into use as snow plows.

The city's salt supply was exhausted by this morning and "we can't find any supplies anywhere," Portelli said. The 90 tons used through Sunday and early today were ordered last Wednesday after the city's total supply of 300 tons had been used in fighting earlier snowfalls on Sunday, Jan. 3 (three inches) and Tuesday, Jan. 4 (three inches).

"It was difficult to fight Sunday's snow storm because winds kept drifting the snow in areas where the wind had a clean sweep. As fast as we plowed off the streets, the snow became covered again in a short time," Portelli said.

With the salt supply exhausted, street workers began using cinders this morning, "but we don't have too many of those available," Portelli noted.

Portelli reported that a water main break at Walnut and Niedringhaus Avenues created a problem this morning as water froze, quickly as it emerged above the pavement, and at one time was about one foot thick around the intersection.

Street workers used grader blades to break the ice. The area was covered with salt, creating a slush which the graders pushed toward a catch basin to keep it from covering the intersection.

The auto of Kathy Bowman, 215 Edwardsville Road, was swerved to the right on Delmar Avenue and when she swerved to avoid it, her car went out of control on the snow and left the pavement.

Michelle Bowman, 21, of the same address, a passenger in Mrs. Bowman's auto, was standing in the front seat and fell forward, striking her head. She was admitted to St.

Postpone work at GC locks

The 1,200-foot main lock at Locks No. 27, Granite City, will not be closed for an extended period this winter, as had been previously scheduled.

James A. Peterson, chief, Operations Division, St. Louis District, Army Corps of Engineers, told the Press-Record today that major repair work and closure of the largest lock may not be undertaken until next winter (1977-78).

"Both the 1,200-foot main lock and the 600-foot auxiliary lock should remain operational this winter, with the possible exception of closures of short duration for normal maintenance and repair activities," he related.

"Repair of voids underneath the lower-land wall and lower intermediate wall of the main lock at Alton Locks and Dam No. 28 will be initiated in late January 1977. The repair will be accomplished by contract."

"The Alton work will take 125 days, and it is anticipated that both the main and auxiliary Alton locks will be closed for a maximum of 10 hours per day for 22 days at the beginning of this work."

"Both will be closed for another two days in late April to backfill the interior part of the intermediate lock wall after the voids have been grouted. The remaining contract work will be done while the main lock is in operation; the main lock will be closed periodically."

HYPERLU!

You are our main interest at First Bank. Your concerns and financial security are our concerns and our financial security.

A look behind the scenes at First Bank will show that all operating policies and procedures are designed for you. For instance, we process all your transactions promptly — usually the same day as received.

And we take particular care to process all deposits to your account before we process any debits. In this way, we maximize your account balance to your best advantage.

Extra care is a First Bank trademark in providing our other banking services, too. We not only make loans for any worthwhile purpose, we provide financial counseling. We offer savings accounts, but we also advise and assist you in making other appropriate investments.

And we want to help you plan wisely for your future security and that of your loved ones. Let us discuss your estate objectives with you and assist in setting up trusts or joint ownerships.

So you see, where you bank is important . . . because the major difference between banks is their philosophy of service to their customers.

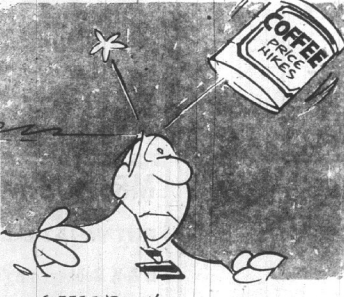

At First Bank, you can count on promptness, courtesy, confidentiality and plenty of neighborly concern and interest in YOU.

Shouldn't First Bank be your bank?

FOREIGN TRADE ZONE is being proposed by the Tri-City Regional Post District, operator of the harbor that is located in the wide area of the Chain of Rocks Canal. Part of Locks No. 27 — 600-foot and 1,200-foot river locks, can be seen at the upper left, connected with the harbor. The port district conducts loading, unloading and warehousing in the northern part of the harbor and also in the southern section at the left acquired in the mid-1970s from the Bi-State Development Agency. Nearby in the right center of the picture are bulk storage facilities and the Tri-City Port office. Streets connecting with the curving Great River Road (Federal Aid Route 151) are Rock Road (near the storage tanks), West 20th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue. Niedringhaus intersects where a new highway structure has been built to carry Route 151 south from Niedringhaus and over railroad tracks in the Chicago Avenue area at the lower left. The main local railroad routes are visible at the bottom of the aerial photograph, and in the lower center area is the American Steel Foundries plant. The proposed duty-free zone, intended as a stimulus to expanded local manufacturing activity, would be located in the right center area, immediately north (right) of the harbor, between the canal and Great River Road. Chouteau Island is at the top of the photo. Enabling legislation for the proposed zone was sponsored by State Senator Sam Vadalabene.

Writing competition Talk on Russian education

The department of English language and literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is sponsoring a writing contest for students who were enrolled in any of the department's freshman composition classes last year.

Dan Havens, chairman of the department, said entrants must be currently enrolled at the university and must have successfully completed English composition (GSK 101 or GSK 102) during the 1976 calendar year.

Topic of the competition is "Literacy as Self-Defense." First prize will be $50, which will be awarded at Honors Day in May.

Writing of the 600-1,000 word expository essays will take place under controlled conditions during two-hour scheduled periods.

Participants will be allowed to take only their thoughts and a pen equipped with either blue or black ink to the classroom. A dictionary will be provided.

The contest will be held Jan. 26 in Peck Classroom Building. Time periods and locations include: 8:30 a.m. in Room 3302, 11:30 a.m. in Room 1309 and 12:30 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. in Room 3315.

Deadline for registration will be noon Jan. 24 in English language and literature office, Room 3206, Peck Building. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Havens at 692-2060.

Soviet education will be discussed by Henry D. Campbell on Friday at 7 p.m. in the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

An assistant professor in the Experiment in Higher Education Program at the center, Campbell has returned from a two-week tour of the education system in the Soviet Union with 121 other educators from the U.S.

His informal lecture will include slides taken during the trip.

The professor says he found that education is highly respected in Russia and that there are few discipline problems in the Russian school system.

Campbell majored in political science and Russian during his undergraduate studies at Washington University in St. Louis and often served as a translator for the other American educators during the tour.

The lecture is being presented by the Society of Ethnic and Special Studies (SESS) and is free and open to the public.

This is the first of a series of public affairs programs to be presented by the society this year. Each month, SESS sponsors a lecture featuring a well-known person discussing topics of interest to the public.

Lehman, vice-president for fund raising; Leesa Kenham, secretary, and Debora Heberlein, treasurer. Mrs. Mary Warren, not in picture, is the associate adviser for Post 255. The officers were elected last week to serve for one year.

Alice Paul fought for vote, now ERA

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Ratification in 1920 of the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote was only the first battle fought by Alice Paul, who rode in many a Black Maria on her way to jail fighting for women's rights.

Another larger battle began right after the suffragette movement was successful and three years later she proposed amendment, the next step in her lifetime quest to gain for her sex the same freedoms and privileges accorded men.

Today, Miss Paul waits in a Ridgfield (Conn.) nursing home for the fulfillment of her goal — the ratification of ERA as the 27th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

St. Louis U. registration

Registration for St. Louis University's spring semester will be tomorrow through Thursday. Classes will begin Jan. 17.

Registration hours are 8:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday.

Late registration hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Jan. 17 and 18. The late registration fee is $15.

Late registration for Metropolitan College, the adult undergraduate division of the university, is from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. today to Thursday; 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday; and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Metropolitan College classes started today and the late registration fee is $5.

With typical disregard for obstacles, Miss Paul also managed to graduate from the New York School of Philanthropy in 1906, as well as to study at the Woodbrooke Settlement for Social Work and the University of Birmingham, both in England, in 1908.

She became involved in suffrage in England; it was there she was first jailed, then she first fought back with a long hunger strike.

In future years, she would often be forcibly fed, brutally treated. The ordeals and dehumanizing she would suffer would be incredible, but never so unbearable that she would discontinue her efforts for the cause in which she believed so fervently.

The story of the struggle to win the vote for women is one of incredible hardship, brutality and ridicule fought with equally incredible endurance, convictions and tenacity. Much of the movement's strength came from the small, taut frame and great visionary intellect of Alice Paul, who would not recognize defeat.

She climbed over and around every obstacle, met Congressional and Presidential procrastinations with pure, invincible stubbornness.

Alice Paul could rest on her past contributions to her sex and her country, for they are great. Instead, she ponders present needs — and looks to the future, to ERA's ratification.

Steelmakers

steel with less and less energy being long before recognition of an "energy crunch," the magazine points out.

Steel's energy conservation techniques fit into three broad categories:

(1) Retrofitting of proven processes into older facilities.

(2) New methods presently being developed.

(3) "Housekeeping" efforts which, once made, have a lasting effect.

More specifically, the magazine cites individual energy-saving techniques, many of which have been in use for many years. They include such proven processes as iron ore pelletization and continuous casting, plus newer tools such as the computer.

Simple housekeeping, much like homeowners must exercise in reducing their heating bills, also is an important constituent of energy saving in the steel industry, it is asserted.

As for newer methods of energy saving, the magazine cites substitution of coal for other fuels, capturing off-gas from basic oxygen furnaces, and building larger and more productive blast furnaces as possible new techniques. Many companies already are doing this, the magazine says.

Industry experts caution, however, that many projects still are uneconomical because of the capital shortage. The text of the overview of steel and energy appears on Page 14.

with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, we are building a new water treatment plant and installing additional basic oxygen furnace and coke oven emission controls.

"We expect to spend $27.5 million these environmental projects. The greatest percentage of our capital expenditures for the next two years will be devoted to such non-production facilities."

DIES IN FIRE

Mrs. Rena Tripp, 87, of Jackson, Mo., died in a fire Friday when her home was destroyed. She reared 15 children, including her nephew, Edward Young, 60, Barkley St., Mitchell. A memorial service will be held in Indian Creek, Mo., on Tuesday.

Development density fostered by Gateway

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman, East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, said during the weekend that "one of the most important thrusts of the Gateway Council this year will be the development of a comprehensive land use plan for the St. Louis region."

"Last year, our board of directors instructed the staff to formulate a plan which would encourage higher density development rather than uncontrolled sprawl."

"We as a region are faced with the fact that we have limited resources. We must, therefore, husband those resources as carefully as possible."

"By supporting density of development, we are in essence supporting the use of existing facilities such as sewers, roads and schools, rather than encouraging costly duplication."

"This philosophy of conservation of our area resources is also reflected in other major Gateway programs."

"We will, for example, complete the final portion of our port program."

"We hope to once again make the St. Louis area the premier inland port of the world by redeveloping what we already possess."

"Our mass transit study will also be completed in 1977 and we already know that the citizens of the region want improvements to the system we now have rather than large capital investments in unproven regional modes."

"Gateway's transportation program calls for using existing transportation facilities for the short-range needs of the area."

"Techniques such as flexible, reserved car pool and bus lanes, and van pool programs are being explored as alternatives to building superhighways that will be used to capacity only twice a day."

"Our water quality study, which has an its goal fishable and swimmable water by 1983, is stressing nonstructural solutions to pollution problems and will next year present a range of these solutions with costs so that citizens and decision makers can intelligently weigh each possibility based on what we as a region can afford," Hagnauer said.

"Our board last year adopted a regional housing needs report authored by the housing staff."

"This report, which takes the position that services such as public schools, health care, and law enforcement are integral parts of maintaining neighborhoods and preventing blight, is already being used by local communities and neighborhood groups in their efforts to preserve existing housing."

"A new publication, the Housing Conservation Guide, will aid in these efforts."

"None of these programs is being developed in a vacuum. We involve a wide spectrum of people from both the public and private sectors."

"Almost every major corporation in the St. Louis region has representatives on our various committees; we actively solicit advice and information from the private sector; and we cooperate on a continuing basis with such organizations as the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, local Chambers of Commerce and Downtown St. Louis."

"While economic growth and viability are not the only goals of the Gateway Council, they are two of our primary concerns, and we address them in a manner designed to provide maximum benefits for all of the region's people."

Mrs. Konvicka dies at 68

Mrs. Catherine (Koch) Konvicka, 68, of 2121 Grand Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 10:45 p.m. Friday at St. Luke's Hospital, St. Louis. She had been ill one week and hospitalized for a week.

She was employed at the Lennox Purge Factory, St. Louis, for many years prior to her retirement.

Mrs. Konvicka was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church and also belonged to the Mexican Honorary Society and a senior citizen club.

Her husband, Ludwig Konvicka, died 10 years ago. Survivors include one stepson, Michael Konvicka of Eddystone, Pa.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Oil price hearings

WSIE-FM (88.7), owned and operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will broadcast two sessions of hearings by the Joint Economic Subcommittee on Energy Wednesday and Thursday at 5 a.m.

The programs will examine the recent Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) decision on oil prices and its implications in terms of the U.S. international energy policy.

"The expected announcement of a two-tiered oil price structure by OPEC, coupled with the Saudi Arabian threat to increase its oil production in support of the lower price, raises new doubts about the future capacity of OPEC to submerge the political and economic differences among its members," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said. New York Times.

3 injured in two-car crash

Three persons were injured when the auto of Ed Dunham, 65, of 504 W. 20th St., and Elmer Lee Turnbough, 35, of 2411 Missouri Ave., collided on Route 3 near the Granite City Humane Shelter at 11:30 p.m. Thursday.

Dunham was charged with driving in the wrong lane after his northbound auto allegedly crossed the center line and collided with the southbound Turnbough auto. The injured were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Dunham was admitted to the hospital for observation with abrasions to his nose, chin and forehead and a cut to his head.

Turnbough suffered a cut to the right side of his forehead, neck pain and a head injury. The cut was sutured and he was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

A passenger, David Turnbough, 17, of the same address, suffered pain to his lower leg and a cut to his left hand. He was released after treatment.

Choate to be SIUC liaison with Assembly

Veteran state legislator Clyde Choate of Anna on Friday announced his resignation from the Illinois House of Representatives to accept Southern Illinois University at Carbondale's offer of a position as director of external affairs for SIUC.

The 54-year-old Choate, in his 16th term of a legislative career that began in 1946, said, "I look forward to accepting new responsibilities that will enable me to combine my own experience with the public trust of SIUC."

George R. Mace, SIUC vice-president for university relations, said Choate's appointment will be effective Jan. 15. It is subject to approval by the university's board of trustees.

Mace said principal duties of the new position, which will be part of the university relations office, will include establishing information and public relations contacts with state and national legislators, acting as SIUC's liaison representative with other state and national organizations and agencies, serving as an advisor to community and university groups who work with state and national political organizations, and assisting with campus and community relations.

"Mr. Choate's long experience in government and his extensive familiarity with legislative leaders and the political process will be invaluable in this effort," said Mace.

Choate, son of a former West Frankfort coal miner who moved with his parents to a Union County farm shortly before his second birthday, has been a leading supporter of SIUC during his long career in the General Assembly.

He sponsored or co-sponsored nearly all of the university's appropriations bills since the late 1940s and was the sponsoring proponent of bills that provided revenue bond-funded residence halls, an educational television station, new academic programs such as engineering and the SIUC security police force.

During his 30 years in the legislature, Choate has been a minority whip four times, majority whip twice, and minority and majority leader in two other sessions.

He was chairman of the Illinois delegation to the Democratic National Convention in 1972.

Choate went into the Army as a private in World War II and in European Theater action won three battlefield citations (Anzio, France) as well as the Purple Heart, the French Fourragere, Bronze and Silver Hearts, a Presidential Citation and the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest honor.

Back home after the war, he worked as a railroad brakeman, a barbecue restaurant operator and a state license investigator before he won election to the House.

He announced his resignation from the House in a floor speech Friday afternoon in the state capitol building.

Afterward, Mace said, "I am gratified that he has indicated his willingness to join SIUC. He will provide us the means to make real and immediate contribution to the people of Illinois by combining our educational and public service missions."

Mace said Choate was the "overwhelming choice" of a national legislators' group organized to screen candidates for the External Affairs position. Jerry Lacey, assistant to the governor, said Mace and chairman of the committee, said 80 persons applied for the job.

Mace said Choate will work out of SIUC's university relations area service offices at Carbondale and the School of Medicine Springfield campus.

Choate and his wife, the former Madonna Ross of Carbondale, have two daughters, Elizabeth Ellen Zechner of Carbondale and Madonna Kim Choate, a junior majoring in anthropology at SIUC.

Maseras acknowledged that his daughter, Tammy, is a student at Granite City High School North.

An Arlington Road mailbox has the name J. S. Maseras. A resident of the Iowa neighborhood has questioned whether the home there has had regular use.

Maseras today said he considers 811 Iowa his home and said that he makes $160 monthly house payments, has $20 monthly telephone bill there, pays $70 to $80 in taxes and $75 gas and electric bills.

Raid

There was no violence during the 10 months the undercover shop was operated, but agents sometimes had to talk rough and intimidate some of the sellers in order to protect themselves and the operation's cover.

Only the federal agents, the Illinois Bureau of Investigation and the Venice Police Department knew the swap shop was a federal undercover operation. The agents operating the shop had "cover identification" which were checked by some of the sellers.

"Even the owner of the building had no idea we were federal agents. We approached him simply as businessmen," Elder said. The exact location of the building used is being kept secret.

Confidential information gathered by the agents during the undercover operation was turned to a Madison County grand jury Thursday and the grand jury handed down suppressed indictments for those sought by the agents.

Warrants for their arrests then were issued. The grand jury continued meeting Friday, leading to speculation more warrants may be pending.

Elder noted the shop was believed to be the largest target on an armed robbery, but the would-be robbers changed their minds for some unknown reason.

He said armed men were seen "casing the place" who appeared ready to commit a robbery, but other agents keeping the shop under surveillance said the men seemed to change their minds just as they were about to commit the robbery.

Friday morning, about 35 law enforcement personnel of the ATF, the FBI, the Illinois State Police, the Madison County Sheriff's Department, the Madison and Venice police departments met at the Venice police department to serve warrants for the arrests of about 14 persons.

The arrests began about 7:15 a.m. Friday and were completed by 10 a.m. Additional warrants are outstanding and Elder said more arrests are expected as agents continue determining the owners of the stolen guns and autos, attempting to determine who stole the guns.

Arrested by the FBI and ATF were four men who are charged with felony theft and conspiracy to sell stolen guns and autos to the agents.

They are George Juergel, 29, of 1005 W. St., Madison; Hodge, 26, Washington Park, and Gerald T. Warden Jr., 20, and Charles Edward Kern, 36, both of Fairview Heights.

Kern and Warden also are charged with violating federal gun control regulations.

Others arrested Friday morning and charged with federal gun control violations are Deon Echols, 22, of 22 Garesche Homes, Madison; Mark Belt, 19, O'Fallon; Terry A. Whitehead, 27, Box 11, Paul Drive, Mitchell; Greg Francis Davis, 21, of 302 Wilson Park Lane, and Robert Ventres, 98 Lee Wright Homes, Venice.

Most were taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville to await transportation to Springfield where the cases will be prosecuted in federal district court.

Others arrested Friday morning were Michael W. Glendinning, 22, Rural Route One, Box 1308, Granite City, charged with theft of a firearm; Andrew Lee Jones, 15, of Mercedia St., Venice, charged with burglary and felony theft, and David L. Floyd, 24, Wood River, charged with theft.

Elders commented after the arrests, "It is hoped by our department and other agencies that this covert operation will aid in reducing the traffic in stolen merchandise, and in particular, the illicit traffic in guns in this area."

"We have far too many shootings in the greater St. Louis area and our law enforcement people will do everything they can to stop the illegal use of guns."

"We also hope operations such as this will reduce burglaries and thefts, since those stealing items will have to be very careful to whom the stolen items are sold from now on," Elders concluded.

ATF will trace the serial numbers on the stolen guns and attempt to determine the true owners, returning the guns to them after they have been used as evidence in the pending cases.

The stolen autos already have been traced to their owners and will be returned.

Television sets, citizens' band radios, bicycles and other items will be kept by the Venice Police Department which will search recent theft and burglary reports to attempt to find the true owners.

Those items which can not be traced to an owner will be disposed of by the Venice Police Department, probably in a public auction, Elders noted.

Clinic on pesticides

The 1977 Urban Pesticide Dealers and Applicators Clinic will be held on Thursday at 9 a.m. with registration and concludes at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Examinations for custom spray applicators and operators license will be given at 2:40 p.m. Thursday.

Examinations will be given at the urban clinic for persons interested in license in the following categories: (1) Right-of-way pest control applicator, (2) aquatic weed pest control applicator, (3) landscape and turf pest control applicator, (4) vegetable crop pest control applicator, (5) fruit crop pest control applicator and (6) forest pest control applicator.

Examinations will be given by Jett Hogancamp of the Illinois State Department of Agriculture. There will be a special session for those persons wishing to be licensed under the category of insecticide weed control. This session will cover the topic of noncrop weed control as commonly used along highway rights-of-way.

Multiplier

1975 year. The 1976 assessments are the basis of tax bills for collection this year.

Barton said that as a result of the multiplier, the assessment on a real estate property fixed by the local township assessment at $10,000 will be increased to $10,800.

He emphasized, however, that an increase in the assessment does not necessarily mean an increase in the tax bill, since the levies applied by tax agencies are computed against the total assessment determine the tax rate.

The higher the amount of assessment, the lower the tax rate to raise a given sum of money as established in an agency's tax levy," he said.

"Consequently a lower tax rate applied against a higher assessment could mean the same billing as last year unless the amount of money requested by the tax agency is higher," he said.

He admitted there could be some increase in the tax bill in the instance of a tax agency whose tax rates already have been at a statutory maximum in previous years and were not producing the full amount of money which was sought in the levy. The higher assessment would provide additional "leeway" under which the previously maximum rates would produce more tax money, it was explained.

Computations show that the gross real estate assessment of $198,370,220 as set by the local assessor will increase to $116,879,848 when the 1.08 multiplier is applied.

Readjustment of real estate assessments is under way in most of Madison County's 24 townships as the result of a state law passed in 1975 requiring establishment of assessment ratios at 33.3 per cent of fair cash value as determined by sales records.

The law provides a three-year period for adjustment of assessment ratios to comply with the 33.3 per cent requirement. The program is in its second year for the 1976 tax period (for which taxes are collected this summer). Barton said further adjustments will be necessary in preparation of 1977 assessments early in 1978 to comply with the 33.3 per cent requirement.

Industrial-academic advisory committee

Harvard University and the Monsanto Company announced at Dedham, Mass., last week the formation of a five-man advisory committee which will be concerned with the public interest in a joint biomedical research project now being undertaken by the St. Louis-based science company and the university's medical school.

Members of the committee are Paul J. Flory, Alton Meister, William D. Ruckelshaus Jr., Frank Stanton and Maxwell M. Winter. The project, which deals with the biology and biochemistry of organ development — and the study and ultimately the commercial production of molecules from biological sources — is financed by Monsanto. It is being carried out by scientists at Harvard and at Monsanto's Research Center here.

Harvard and Monsanto established the advisory board to ensure that university researchers are free to publish findings, and that commercialization by Monsanto of products derived from the research is done in a manner consistent with the public interest.

Committee members have expressed the hope that their activities may eventually serve as a model for others who embark on a similar industrial-academic project in the future. None of the five has any connection with either Harvard or Monsanto.

Henry C. Meadow, associate dean of the Harvard Medical School, and Monte C. Thordahl, Monsanto group vice-president for technology, are liaison members of the advisory committee.

Nobel Laureate Dr. Flory is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and a professor of chemistry. He pioneered research on the constitution and properties of substances composed of giant molecules, such as rubbers, plastics, fibers, films and proteins.

Dr. Meister is professor and chairman of the Department of Biochemistry at the Cornell University Medical College. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Ruckelshaus is senior vice-president of Weyerhaeuser Co., a Tacoma, Wash.-based firm. He served as the first administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and is a former deputy attorney general for the U.S. Department of Justice. Last summer, he was considered a contender for the vice-presidential nomination of the Republican Party.

Dr. Stanton is chairman of the American National Red Cross and a fellow of the American Academy for the Advancement of Science. He is former president and vice chairman of CBS, Inc.

Dr. Winter, a hematologist, is distinguished professor of internal medicine at the University of Utah and a member of the National Academy of Sciences.

Explorer program to expand locally

Exploring, a program for young adults within the Boy Scouts of America, is scheduled to expand in this area by 100 per cent, according to W. F. "Mike" Strang, vice-president of the Cabela Mound Scout Council.

"Backed by 30 volunteers formed in organizational teams of two in what we are calling 'The 12th Hour,' the teams will be helping groups form new Explorer Posts in the area. Several organizations, clubs and churches have expressed a desire to sponsor an Explorer Post," Strang said.

On Wednesday, Jan. 19, the volunteers will hold a dinner planning meeting hosted by Charles Hester, owner of Charlie's restaurant, and chaired by Charles W. Chapman, a local attorney. Hester and Chapman are co-chairmen of the "12th Hour."

"If properly done it takes about 12 hours spread over a three to four-week time period working with representatives of potential sponsors to get a new unit functioning."

The Explorer program is for young men and women in high school and college. The program is designed to further a young person's interest in career, vocational or hobby interest according to Chapman. Explorer units meet twice monthly with programs centered around the group's special interest.

"The Explorer program is highly adaptable to any group such as labor trades, business, churches, professions or hobbies that are interested in furthering their particular area of interest and helping young people gain a positive sense of direction in this complex and changing society," Chapman said.

Information on the Explorer program may be obtained by any interested group by contacting the local Scout Service Center, 1815 Delmar Ave., phone 876-0686.

Rising values require GC realty assessment multiplier

The good news is that Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Townships and Madison County are expected to avoid a state-determined assessment multiplier for the 1976 tax year (1977 collection), it was revealed Thursday.

The bad news is that Granite City Township real estate assessments will receive a county-set 1.08 multiplier, the Madison County Board of Review announced today.

If there is a silver lining to the dark cloud in the decision affecting Granite City, it is that only the portion of the assessed valuation related to real estate will be affected.

Had the county marked time and not altered any townships' valuation totals, a countywide multiplier undoubtedly would have resulted. This potential state action would have affected all 24 Madison County townships and would have applied to personal property as well as realty.

It is not a case of the Granite City assessor, retaining static, or of the total failing to grow from year to year. But the rate of rising home and other property values, as shown by specific sales, has been so dramatic that assessment revisions have not quite kept pace.

A bit of earlier "good and bad news" set the stage for the current situation.

The Illinois legislature gave taxpayers an apparent break by ordering that assessments be based on 33 and one-third per cent of "full, fair cash value" instead of the previous 50 per cent, which had become unrealistic due to past inflation. But the state government simultaneously made it clear that it "meant business" and wouldn't let future valuations drift far from the standard of one-third of actual (changing) value.

Because many Illinois counties and townships varied widely in their valuations, and because the transition from 50 per cent to 33 and one-third per cent was a massive step to accomplish, the state decided on a three-year changeover.

Counties with approximately one-third of value on their assessment books could remain the same, as long as they updated the bulk of their figures to reflect general changes in the worth of property.

Those with excessive valuations were to gradually conform during the three-year transition. Granite City, however, was in the unfortunate position of reducing assessments, a process being carried out by the assessor, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships are in an acceptable range for the new tax year, second year of the three-year program.

The Granite City assessor reassessed many parcels of property and felt that enough had been done to avoid a multiplier. But the county, striving to avoid adverse state action, disagreed regarding Granite City, to the tune of eight per cent (1.08 multiplier). This factor will be applied to Granite City real estate totaling $10,370,230 in valuations.

Plan for a city-under-glass wouldn't solve its problems

Collinsville Herald — A few years ago, Buckminster "Bucky" Fuller, then SIUE's sometimes resident genius, started the civilized world by launching a unique plan to revitalize East St. Louis.

It didn't involve anything so basic as having every last citizen get the true religion, stop burning, cease ripping off, and go to work, all the while exuding the Golden Rule and scrubbing everything in sight.

No, as might be expected from an engineering-architectural innovator, it involved construction.

"Bucky" proposed putting East St. Louis under glass. He envisioned a geodesic dome with structures beneath it, somewhat like a monumental blow-up of the climator in Shaw's Garden.

The idea was publicized here and elsewhere, as today's "gee whiz" curiosity. From time to time, it surfaced again.

Now, miracle of miracles, a pilot project is actually to be launched. Somebody is taking it seriously and held a benefit dinner at Coleman's Plaza in East St. Louis.

Until now, it was just good copy, a conversation piece, a passing curiosity.

When they start taking it seriously, when they start proposing spending good money to build a small city on the northern edge of East St. Louis under a glass dome 30 feet off the ground, it's time for somebody to scream "That's a cotton-pickin' minute now..."

State jobs sought

By BOB ESTILL
SPRINGFIELD — Job hunters are queuing up at Gov.-elect James Thompson's Springfield transition office, but they're not beating down the doors.

"The pressure is not overwhelming," reports Thompson's transition staff member.

It's just as well.

They're not actually processing or making decisions on applications anyway. They'll listen as the job seeker tells of how he single-handedly delivered the election for Thompson and why he needs the job, but that's about the extent of it.

If the job hunter happens to have a resume, they will forward it without recommendation to Thompson's Chicago office.

Gov. estimates about 200 to 400 resumes have been sent to Chicago from the Springfield office since it opened in the old Division of Waterways Building. Only in about half those instances did the job hunter have a specific job in mind.

That estimate only includes those who gave resumes to

Governor (R) Assembly D

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — It already has become apparent that the new Illinois legislature is going to be a lot like the old one — only more so.

The 79th Illinois General Assembly certainly has been a divided, fractious body, with party lines frequently blurred and traditional legislative leadership lacking.

The 80th General Assembly convened in January will be pretty much the same with some additional complicating factors.

The biggest change is that for the next two years there will be a governor with the legislature controlled by the opposition party.

Republican Gov. James R. Thompson will have to contend with a Democratic edge of 92 to 86 in the House and 34 to 26 in the Senate.

Thus it is obvious that he must have a substantial degree of cooperation from the Democrats to pass any major legislation.

Not many years ago the way to achieve this would have been to cultivate a friendly relationship with the leaders of the opposing party and work with them toward common goals.

But in the past several sessions party loyalties have diminished markedly and legislative leaders, be they Democrats or Republicans, rarely have been able to lead their assumed followers.

The majority Democrats have about as many factions as the Italian Parliament including a Senate aberration known as the Crazy Eight. It is an appropriate reflection of the current state of legislative circumstances that the Crazy Eight is now credited with nine members.

Dixon tried 3 times for Walker pact on treasurer

SPRINGFIELD — One of the most forgettable experiences this reporter had during the 1976 campaign occurred while traveling with Gov. Dan Walker.

Speaking at an affluent gathering in a suburban Glenview home, the governor discussed his relationship with other politicians.

"I tried to get along with everybody," Walker told them, "but they always seemed to like my election was a fluke. Mayor Daley and the others never accepted the fact that I won."

All I really tell off my chair. In four years as chief executive, Walker loved confrontation, not compatibility.

His problems with other elected officials — of both parties — started as soon as he lowered his hand from taking the oath of office.

"The free ride is over," he proclaimed, with Gov. Richard Ogilvie and other elected officials standing nearby.

He showed little respect for

Handy multiple choice test on state treasurer issue

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Politicians will be talking for years about Donald Smith's appointment as state treasurer.

As persons who follow state government know, the State and Gov. Dan Walker, both Democrats, could not agree on whom should be appointed when Dixon became secretary of state. So Dixon said he telephoned Gov.-elect James Thompson, a Republican, and they agreed on Smith. Smith said he would not be a candidate for the office in two years.

For students of state government, we have devised a multiple choice test on the developments surrounding the appointment:

1. Walker told this person he favored him (or her) for the job:

A. Cecil Pardee; B. Mary Lee Leach; C. An out-of-stater; D. John R. Daley; E. A large campaign contributor; F. Roland Burris; G. Jack Beaupre; H. All of the above.

2. The governor's reaction to the announcement was:

A. Relief, because he had promised the job to a friend; B. Surprise, because Dixon smiles a lot and he didn't think Dixon had the guts to stand up to him; C. Anger, because he wanted someone who could raise money to help him pay off his campaign debt; D. All of the above.

3. The reaction to the deal has been:

A. Some Democratic committeemen and legislators are angry; B. The press and the banking com-

1. Jimmy Carter is —
A. Liberal.
B. Conservative.
C. Middle of the road.
D. All of the above.
2. Elizabeth Ray caused —
A. A big stir in the District of Columbia.
B. A scandal in New Jersey.
C. The state flag of New Jersey.
3. Members of the Ethics Committee are —
A. Freuden.
B. Dyer.
C. Freuden.
4. Ronald Reagan lost the presidential primary because he —
A. Was too old.
B. Was too young.
C. Was too fat.
5. Jerry Ford fell down a lot because he —
A. Was too old.
B. Was too young.
C. Was too fat.
6. Eddie Riccio underwrote —
A. A big sale in the District of Columbia.
B. A scandal in New Jersey.
C. The state flag of New Jersey.
7. Research has proven that marijuana is as bad for the memory as —
A. Beer.
B. Wine.
C. What was the question?
8. Richard Nixon announced that he —
A. Has sixteen inch tonials.
B. Ate his tapes.
C. Is in fact, a crook, but kept it quiet.
9. Nelson Rockefeller gave a well-known gesture to a group of hecklers. It meant —
A. Strike one.
B. A beer, please.
C. He should have been Secretary of Agriculture.
10. Jimmy Carter has announced that the theme of his administration will be —
A. The Great Wall.
B. Have It Your Way.
C. The Grits Society.

actually would get into filling patronage jobs. They're presently involved primarily with research and general assistance to Thompson's other transition teams and the personnel search committee, the so-called "Committee of 100."

The closest thing to a certainty is that the transition members will end up in jobs in the Thompson administration.

The office here is headed by Zule Glaubenman, Thompson's research director in the campaign and now deputy director of government affairs for the transition. A former legislative aide, he is expected to be named Thompson's chief legislative liaison.

Gov. of Springfield, was a regional director in the campaign and formerly was a partner in a firm that did financial analysis for local governments.

Governor (R) Assembly D

those familiar old blocs once controlled by the late Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, and the mainly Southern Democratic coalition headed by veteran Rep. Clyde L. Chaste of Anna.

Then there is a loose collection of House and Senate members generally known as the "regular" Democrats, who may be allied with various forces on occasion.

There is also a group of "independents" who pretty much go their own way.

The minority Republicans are less fractionalized than the Democrats, but neither do they vote consistently as a party bloc. Thompson cannot count on his party leadership automatically delivering GOP votes.

In essence the Illinois legislature, reflecting the current political mood, was not a collection of individuals who are not about to be led by anyone on anything.

The day when tough floor leaders like the late Democratic House Speaker Paul Powell or the one-time Republican Senate power, Arthur J. Bidwell, could call the party tune is long past.

Persuasion, not power, is the name of the legislative game.

This attitude is reflected in the choice by Senate Republicans of the new floor manager to succeed retiring Sen. William C. Harris of Pontiac. They chose Sen. David Shapiro, 51, Amboy dentist, respected as a hard-working, knowledgeable, capable legislator, but certainly not a ramrod.

Shapiro already has made it clear he has no intention of trying to deliver party votes for Thompson, and that on most issues each senator will be on his own.

Also consistent with the mood of the times, it appears probable that House Democrats, when they organize will retain Rep. William Redmond, 68, of Bensenville, as speaker.

Redmond, who won the post in a marathon battle two years ago, has been more of a coordinator and peacemaker than a traditional leader.

He occasionally has been criticized for not providing more forceful leadership. But considering the independent attitude of House members it would have been impossible for any Speaker to have forced the various Democratic factions into a consistent voting pattern.

Shapiro and Redmond are somewhat alike in temperament and personality. They are conciliators and that is what the 80th General Assembly will need most.

Dixon tried 3 times for Walker pact on treasurer new's conference to announce he would make "no deals" concerning pending legislation.

With that tradition, it was no surprise that he blasted Dixon and the mayor had no problem with making a "deal" by agreeing that Donald Smith should be the next treasurer.

But isn't there such a thing as honorable compromise? Can two persons — politicians included — sit down and agree to appoint someone to a position in an honorable way?

Walker, a smart man, hasn't learned to compromise in politics. He's learned to compromise in business, but in politics, French statesman, put it: "They remember everything, they learn nothing."

The net result of Walker's failure to compromise is that the Democrats lost a splendid opportunity to pick now their candidate for treasurer.

community are pleased; C. The general public is indifferent; D. All of the above.

4. The governor would have: A. Waited a while longer in the hopes that Walker would finally work with him on the appointment; B. Simply resigned and let Walker make the appointment because the governor has an excellent track record of making appointments and picking running-mates; C. Gone to the Executive Mansion and knock on the door and had a knock-down, drag-out fight until they could agree.

5. There was no reason for Dixon to wait any longer and continue to try to deal with Walker because: A. Walker is responsible to work with; B. Walker said under no circumstances would he change his mind and start discussing whom he favored for the appointment; C. For the sake of continuity and the other employees in the treasurer's office, the decision had to be made at this time; D. All of the above.

6. Dixon said: A. He did his best to get a Democrat appointed; B. He did not talk to the late Mayor Daley about the appointment; C. He realized his plan for merit selection of judges would now be defeated in the legislature; D. A Democrat who criticized him will not have their license numbers renewed next year.

7. The late Mayor Daley said: A. Dixon did the only thing he could; B. Walker did the only thing he could; C. Thompson did the only thing he could; D. Dixon and Walker were idiots for letting a Republican get control of the office, so he will not support either one in the next election; E. None of the above.

8. Thompson said: A. Walker should be pleased because he promised the job to five different persons and now he's off the hook.

9. After the inauguration, Thompson will wake up and realize he moved too fast because: A. He should have let Dixon and Walker fight longer; B. He had the clock to him; C. A Republican who would have been the candidate in two years; D. He was preoccupied with his dog going to obedience class; E. All of the above.

10. Republicans think: A. It's great that the Democrats can work together; B. Smith will change his mind and run for the office in two years.

Cathy Radcliff marries Kevin Charles Werner

Miss Cathy LaVerne Radcliff and Kevin Charles Werner exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony on Dec. 18, at the United Methodist Church in Madison.

The Rev. Edward Weston officiated at the 5 o'clock evening service before an altar adorned with floral bouquets and a heart shaped candelabra holding burning tapers.

Gold hurricane lamps illuminated the white carpeted aisle and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Organist Karen Koliste accompanied Miss Alicia Hendrickson as she sang, "Colour My World," "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radcliff, 2117 Troy St. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Werner, 2020 Sixth St., all of Madison.

For her wedding, the former Miss Radcliff, chose a full length white A-line designed organza over taffeta gown embellished with embroidered rosettes.

Venise lace accented the oval neckline, trimmed the butterfly sleeves and enhanced the ruffled flounce at the hemline and chapel train.

She wore a headpiece of rosettes, etched with pearls, to secure a fingertip veil of illusion and she held a tear-drop bouquet of white elegance roses interspersed with pink Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor Mrs. Daniel Hancock wore a long dark green velvet dress fashioned in a pinafore style trimmed with white lace. The lace was repeated on the long sleeves and formed a double lace cuff.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Michael Hollis, Miss Kathy Werner, a sister of the groom, and Miss Cynthia Radcliff, the bride's sister, were dressed alike in red velvet gowns designed identical to the honor attendant.

All the attendants wore a wreath of baby's breath in their hair and carried bouquets of pink and white elegance roses with baby's breath and fashioned with lace ribbons.

The flower girl, Dawn Hamm, a cousin of the groom, wore a dark green velvet frock and carried a white lace basket filled with pink rose petals.

Robert Stern attended the groom as best man. Mark Sprinkle, Bill Schmitke, a cousin of the groom, and Keith Werner, brothers of the groom and James Stern completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Michael Richmond, a cousin of the bride, served as the ringbearer.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the FVW Hall in Granite City.

Parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner in their home. Mrs. Radcliff, mother of the bride, was seated in a formal gown fashioned of pink chiffon with a pearl and silver beaded floral cluster marking the Empire waistline, and complemented with a flowing chiffon cape.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Werner, appeared in a full length pastel green-chiffon over taffeta dress created with an Empire waist and long sleeves.

A 1976 graduate of Madison High School, the bride, is employed as clerk secretary at the high school. The groom was graduated in 1975 from Madison High School.

They are residing in Madison.

Arthur Hoffmann hosts meeting

The Fidelity Class of Second Baptist Church were entertained, last week, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoffmann, 2306 Benton St.

Mrs. Ruth Hassler opened the meeting with prayer offered for those who are ill followed by devotions given by Mrs. Ruby Claussen. Mrs. Alice Hoffman and Mrs. Louise Acocks sang a song and Mrs. Pearl Peters read an article entitled, "More of Thee and Less of This."

Roll call was answered with scriptures verses. The class teacher Mrs. Delores Ayres gave the blessing for the refreshments served by Mrs. Hoffman and her daughter, Mrs. Betty Grote.

Others attending were Kay Pearson, Naomi Rongey, Mina Duggins, Ruby Mayberry, Florence Paul, Minnie Cavin, Ruth Chapman and Cora A. Miller.

Miss Debra Redding and Wade Dillard are wed

The Southern Baptist Church, Reno, Ill., was the scene of the wedding on Dec. 21 of Miss Debra Redding, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Redding of Sorento, Ill., and Wade Dillard, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dillard of Granite City.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Cecil Legg. A pre-nuptial concert of Christmas music was presented by pianist Miss Del Myra Carter, a cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, wore a long white polyester organza gown with an Empire bodice featuring a V-neckline edged with a tiny ruffle and long Juliet style sleeves terminating with lace edged flare cuffs.

Her semi-straight skirt was encircled with a double flounce at the hemline and extended into a chapel train, bordered with Venise lace.

She wore a Juliet cap accented with Venise lace motifs, etched with seed pearls, to secure her elbow length veil and she held a cascade of white silk apple blossoms and pentanias, blue azalea and bachelor buttons centered in stilette and tied with blue satin streamers.

Maid of honor Miss Debra Ridings of Granite City, selected a long blue Qiana sleeveless dress, fashioned with a V-neckline and gathered waistline. She carried a colonial bouquet similar to the bridal arrangement.

The groom chose his brother, Kevin Dillard of Granite City, as best man.

Miss Cindy Starr of Granite City, attended the guest book. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Redding, was attired in a formal mint green polyester gown designed with chiffon sleeves, a V-neckline and gathered skirt enhanced with white Schiffli embroidery and beads.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Dillard, chose a long blue and white print polyester dress created with an Empire bodice, V-neckline and long sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of white silk apple blossoms, miniature dahlias, corn flowers and statice.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with aunts of the bride, Mrs. Sharon Peterson and Mrs. Jane Carter of Greenville, Mrs. Ruth Sugg of Sorento and Mrs. Marilyn Durburrow of Granite City, a friend of the bride assisting with the serving.

Among the guests attending the ceremony was Mrs. Cora Redding of Sorento and Mrs. Lily Dillard of Sorento, Mrs. grandmothers of the couple.

The newly married couple are now residing at 1864 Oberlin Drive, St. Louis.

Unbeaten north stops Pekin, Peoria matmen

GCHS North's wrestling Stealers thwarted a late rally by Pekin High School here Saturday afternoon, topping the visitors 22-25 and then beating Peoria Richmond 32-16 in double dual meet competition.

Coach Walt Whitaker's matmen remain undefeated for the 1976-77 season with an 11-0 record, and one Stealer still remains unbeaten thus far, Kris Whelan at 105 pounds, is 16-0.

"We entered the competition with a somewhat revised starting lineup," said Whitaker, noting that three Stealers are sidelined with injuries. The three are Keith Whelan at 112 pounds, Ray Stuart at 145 and Steve Hartline at 187.

North jumped to a 21-3 point lead over Pekin with wins in five of the six opening bouts. Kevin Shemwell (98 pounds) won a 5-4 decision, Kris Whelan (105) won on a pin in 50 seconds, Tracy Patton (112) won 5-2, Kirk Davis (118) lost 5-4, Matt McCullough (133) won 1:34 and Steve Haeffner (132) won 4-2.

Pekin then won the next four weight class bouts to inch ahead 22-21. Suffering defeats were John Sands (138) 14-2, Brian Cavar (145) 13-0, Mitch Steen (155) 9-0 and Jerry Broadwater (167) 11-2.

North regained the lead on a win by Mark Widel (185) in 3:42 and Pekin defeated heavyweight James Shemwell but only by a 4-2 decision.

Against the Peoria team, Shemwell won 10-1, Whelan won 24-2, Patton lost 14-15, Davis won 10-8, McCullough won 7-0, Haeffner lost 7-4, Sands won 5-0, Cavar lost 15-4, Steen lost 15-12 in the fourth quarter. Widel won 15-4 and Jim Shemwell won on a forfeit.

Volleyball teams in district tourney

Coach Wilma Schulte's GCHS South girls' volleyball team is a pre-tournament favorite to capture the 1977-78 district meet at Stanton High tomorrow.

On Wednesday, first-round action continues with Wood River playing Roxana at 7 p.m., and with Coach Sharon Bloodworth's GCHS North South High, with an 8-3 regular season record, defeated Wood River, Roxana, Edwardsville and GCHS North in pre-tournament games.

North High, with a 3-4 mark, defeated Bethalto and Wood River during the season.

A double-dual meet against University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse and Cornell College of Iowa. Leading Western's unbeaten 3-0 dual meet record is Coach Shaffer (Antioch) at 135 pounds, John Niebur (Granite City), 134, 93; Rich Lauffezger (Glenview, Glenbrook), 167, 7-4; and Bob Hays (Union City, TE), 190, 9-1.

Coming off two holiday tournaments, coach Don Triveline's matmen are hampered by injuries. "Right now we're beat up so I think we'll have to bring some guys down a weight to compensate for the injuries," said Triveline.

Niebur will move from 134 to the 125 spot, which has won him a two-time All-American rating the last two seasons. Also, Jim Larson (Lincoln) will move to 142 from 150 and Kurt Habenicht (Bettendorf, Ia.) will go to 150 from 158.

South freshmen win wrestling tournament

GCHS South freshmen wrestlers successfully defended their tournament title Saturday, capturing the second annual Warrior meet with 150 points.

Roxana had 78 points, Edwardsville 77, Belleville West 64, GCHS North 62, Hazelwood East 42, Belleville East 33 and Cross Keyes 18.

South High had six weight class champions, including heavyweight Scott Polson, who is undefeated for the 1976-77 season with an 11-0 record.

Polson pinned two opponents, in 1:33 and 1:29, and posted a 11-1 decision over a forfeit.

Other weight class champions were: Bob Muren (119) of Belleville West, Phil Hays (126) and Joe Henry (138) both of Edwardsville, and Mike Bubrock (145) and Bill McIntyre (155), both of Roxana.

Bruins win 9-1 but remain in 2nd place

For a fifth straight week, O'Fallon continues its hold on first place in Madison-St. Clair Junior Ice Hockey Association standings with an 8-1 win last Friday night at the Wilson Park ice rink.

The Granite City Bruins, second in the standings with a 7-2 mark, downed Metro 9-1 Saturday night.

Wood River edged Alton 4-3 Saturday night.

Seven different players provided goals for the Granite City squad, securing two consecutive wins.

Kenny Sabol and Rich Foy, Garnering one goal each were Gary Malner, Doug Purkey, Dan Feichle, John Pritchard and John Krekovich.

Wood River is 5-3-1. Alton now has a 4-4-1 record, Metro is 2-7 and Collinsville is winless in nine outings.

At the foul line, the Breese squad was 16 of 28 and North 10 of 14.

North committed the most fouls, 22-13, but had the fewest turnovers, 10-17. Mater Dei controlled the boards, 34-27.

Jerry Barnett paced North's scoring with 21 points. Rodney Wertham had 15, Brian Smith and Gary Paul four each and Rick Willard and Brad Gauen, two each.

The Steelers, now with a 3-6 record, play at Roxana tomorrow evening in a makeup contest rescheduled from Jan. 4.

Cahokia lives up to image

GCHS South cagers met a strong Comanche squad at Cahokia Friday evening, losing to hosts 64-46.

Cahokia, now with a 9-1 record, led 10-8, 28-17 and 43-30 at the quarter mark.

South's Warriors, now with a 7-7 record, fell behind on what Coach Don Deterling described as "great offensive rebounding" by the host team.

Cahokia pulled down 11 of 15 rebounds in the first half and then made 15 field goals of 19 attempts in the second half, all 20 feet or more from the basket.

The Comanches hit 28 times from the floor to South's 19. Each team sank eight free throws and fouls also were even at 15.

Ray Boykin led Cahokia in scoring with 21 points while Warrior Tom Hennrich put 17 points on the scoreboard for South.

John Stacy and South were John Stacy with 16 points, Greg Feigl six, Keith Parker four and Dave Rhodes three.

Altamont made 25 field goals and Venice 16 of 54 opportunities. The visitors sank 11 free throws and Devils nine. Venice committed the most fouls, 18-12.

The Devils recovered 12 rebounds, including 12 by Frank Pace. Reggie Matis scored 13 points for Devils.

Quincy Raiders meshed 41 field goals and four free throws and led Venice 22-4, 39-19 and 64-34 at the quarters.

Warrior westlers are impressive in 3 wins

Coach William "Bill" Schmitt's Warrior westlers had little difficulty in sending two northern Illinois teams packing, manhandling Pekin 27-11 and Ben Peoria Richmond 48-8 in a double dual meet at GCHS North on Saturday. Pekin had a 13-0 record before meeting South.

GCHS South remains undefeated for the 1976-77 season with a 15-0 dual meet record. Two Warriors also are undefeated, Jim Carmody with a 2-0 record and Mark Naglich, 18-0 in all bouts.

Results of bouts (with Pekin given first fall) follow:
Rocky Luparush (98 pounds) won on a pin in 5:14 and again in 1:03. Wally DeShon (105) won on a forfeit and in 4:52.

Brian Basore (112) won on a 15-4 decision and 21-9. Randy Basore (119) won 8-1 and 10-1. Sam Perkins (126) won 16-0 and lost 6-4. Dave Gaines (132) won 6-2 and 18-0.

Vabe Habeshian (138) lost 22-1 and 9-3. Dwayne Page (145) lost 7-2 and won 18-0.

Jim Carmody (155) won 11-3 and 8-4. Mike Forshee (167) lost 9-5 and won 1:15. Kevin Wilson (185) won 8-6 and 1:10, and heavyweight

Mark Naglich won 6-4 and on a forfeit.

Trojans stomp St. Paul lose at Notre Dame

Madison High School cagers now have an 11-2 record after beating St. Paul's Vikings at Highland Friday night 92-47 and then suffering a 75-49 defeat Saturday at Quincy Notre Dame.

Coach Larry Graham's Trojans basketball team met Quincy's Raiders without the services of high-scoring Randall Jones, a senior, who had suffered an ankle injury in the opening period against St. Paul.

Jones, Madison's leading scorer with 22 points and top rebounder with 119 recoveries, may have to remain out of action for two weeks, it was indicated.

Notre Dame led 16-11, 38-24 and 54-44 at the quarters. Madison outscored the hosts 25-21 in the final period but the rally was not enough.

The Raiders made 26 field goals of 59 attempts and Madison 25 of 63.

From the charity stripe, Quincy sank 23 of 33 tosses and Madison 19 of 25. Madison committed the most fouls, 17-25, but made the most turnovers, 11-15. Rebounding was close, with Madison holding the edge, 31-30, including nine in the final period.

When Quincy was ahead 18-11 in the second period, three straight baskets and a foul shot by Ron Williams decided the score with 5:25 to play in the first half. But Quincy took the lead again and was never headed after that.

Field goals by Anthony King and Clayton Harris in the final period pulled the Trojans within three points, 67-64, with 1:42 left to play.

A basket and a free throw by Tim Mecken, widened the margin again.

Mecken scored 32 points, including 20 in the first half. King scored 22 points for Madison, Harris 16, Ron Williams nine, Dave seven, James Heard six, Lloyd Williams four, Rodney Cochrell three and Kenny Stanley, two.

At Highland, Madison led 20-6, 40-25 and 62-46 at the quarters.

Madison held the edge from the floor, 38-24, and trailed at the free throw line, 16-19.

St. Paul committed the fewest fouls, 17-25, but made the most turnovers, 18-10. Madison controlled the boards, 43-28, with Davis pulling down 13 rebounds.

Randy Moss, brother of Coach Rick Moss, scored 23 points for the Vikings.

Davis topped the Trojans in scoring with 28. Ron Williams had 19 points, Harris 12, Kenny Stanley seven, Heard, Cochrell and King had six each, Collins, Eric Stanley, Jones and Lloyd Williams, each had two points.

Seasons set for girls' sports

Principals of member schools of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) approved one change to the association's constitution and three changes to the bylaws — including the establishment of sports seasons for both boys and girls sports — in their annual referendum.

Ballots were counted in the IHSA office last week.

Beginning with the 1977-78 school year, there will be separate starting and ending dates for competition in both the boys' and girls' sports in which the association conducts state tournament series.

"Until the approval of formal sports seasons for both boys' and girls' athletics, there were no sports seasons in girls' athletics. Sports seasons in boys' athletics have been on the books for many years.

The association conducts state tournament series in the following girls' athletic activities: archery, golf, tennis, field hockey, swimming, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, badminton, softball and track and field.

The IHSA, conducts state tournament series in the following boys' athletic activities: cross-country, baseball, golf, tennis, football, soccer, gymnastics, basketball, swimming, wrestling and track and field.

Among the new features of the sports seasons are:

"The girls' volleyball season will be conducted in the fall of the year, with the state tournament series to be conducted by the third weekend in December.

"The girls' basketball season will begin Dec. 1 and will conclude the last weekend of March.

"The boys' basketball season will begin Nov. 1 and the first game may not be played until Nov. 20. Previously, the season began Oct. 1 and the first game could be played any time.

"The boys' gymnastics season will begin Nov. 1 and will conclude no later than the third weekend of February. Previously, the season did not end until the first weekend of March.

In all activities, the first contest in the sport cannot be played until the date of the first scheduled varsity contest.

Allen cites time as election issue

Discussing his candidacy, Dick Allen, a Granite City attorney running for township supervisor, said today, "The incumbent supervisor, Mr. Hagnauer, has filed for reelection. "What this means is that in the case of Mr. Hagnauer, he would either have to resign from the position of township supervisor approximately a year and half after he took office if he were reelected, or choose not to seek re-election to the county board of which he is chairman," Allen said. "The latter I deem unlikely because he earns in excess of $20,000 as chairman of the County Board and only $7,200 as township supervisor. "In the event Mr. Hagnauer chooses to remain on the county board, which seems certain, the town board, which is the city council, would appoint a successor as township supervisor. "This means that the general public would be deprived of the right to select a township supervisor for a full term and, in fact, more than half of the remaining term would be filled by someone who did not receive a single vote for township supervisor."

Guilty plea to game clock law

John Watkins, 3332 VFW Lane, State Park Place, has been fined $55 and ordered to pay $30 in court costs after pleading guilty to a state charge alleging game clock fighting. It was the first conviction in Madison County under the state law prohibiting game clock fighting.

The case against Watkins was prepared by an investigator of the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Cock fighting, usually accompanied by betting, is a contest in which two birds have razor-sharp spurs attached to their legs and duel until one is killed.

Rites for former GC steel employee

Study purchases of equipment for GC police firing range

Bids for swivel target stands and frames, a timer, a compressor and a pneumatic drive unit were opened by the Granite City Council last week and were referred to the city's police committee for consideration.

The equipment is the first needed for a new police pistol range to be operational by this spring on the Granite City Army Installation.

The pistol range formerly used by the Granite City police, the John Marshall Gun Range on Granite City Steel property, was demolished last year to make room for a new water treatment plant the steel company is constructing.

Reimbursements totaling $183 were approved for Casper Nighossian, the city's condemnation attorney, for costs incurred in condemning a parcel of property needed for the extension of Mayville Road.

An allowance of $100 was granted police Sgt. William Harris to attend an operational review academy Jan. 24 to 25 in Springfield.

Alderman Roy Poulos requested the building inspector to prepare a list of boarded-up houses and buildings in the city so the city's attorneys can check to be sure all condemnation suits against them are active.

Alderman Warren Decatur requested the attorneys study ways to strengthen the city's law requiring dogs on public property to be muzzled or kept on a leash.

The council approved a payment of $26,521 as the sixth payment to Meredith Construction Co. for the new firehouse at Johnson and Richmond avenues. The council approved $15 per month wage increases for three employees of the sewage treatment plant who recently passed their class four sewage treatment competency tests. The increase in pay meets requirements of the contract under which the employees work.

Granted the raises were Philip D. Boyer, Gary L. Miller and Terrence J. Kelahan. The monthly report from the fire department showing fire losses totaling $25,920 during December was accepted by the council.

Indictment in murder

A Madison County grand jury Wednesday indicted Eugene Loveless, 42, East St. Louis, on charges of murder and voluntary manslaughter.

The indictment alleges Loveless fatally stabbed Eddie Ingram, 29, of 1645 Second St., Madison, in front of the Chat and Chew, 427 Weaver St., Venice, Dec. 3.

Loveless allegedly was standing beside a car with a knife in his hand when Venice police arrived. Mr. Ingram was found nearby suffering serious cuts and he was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Loveless posted a $5,000 cash bond and was released.

Attorney firm gets charter

A domestic corporation charter has been issued by the State of Illinois to The Tack Room, Inc., 12808 Niedringhaus Ave., it was announced by Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett.

Listed as charterer is Fred Wilier. One thousand shares of common stock of non-par value are listed.

The corporation is "to supply attorneys-in-fact to individual principles."

Correspondent is William E. Brandt, 13084 Niedringhaus Ave.

The council concurred in Mayor Paul Schuler's appointment of John Steer, a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as a part-time air pollution technician in the city's Air Pollution Control Department.

More GC insurance problems

Granite City officials have requested City Attorney George Filcoff to institute action aimed at delaying cancellation of the city's indemnity insurance.

The National Sheriffs' Association accepted the city's insurance last month after the previous carrier cancelled the city's policy, leaving the city without insurance for several weeks.

Indemnity insurance protects the city against court judgments resulting from actions taken by city officials, including police.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer told the council he has been informed the National Sheriffs' Association is cancelling the city's insurance Jan. 27. No reason for the cancellation was given.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he referred the issue to the city attorney and Filcoff said the insurance can not be cancelled unless the city is given a reason for the cancellation.

Filcoff also said the city is entitled to a hearing before the Illinois Insurance Department before cancellation and noted he would request such a hearing, Schuler related.

Demanding a reason for cancellation may delay the date of the cancellation, but is not likely to keep the policy from being cancelled in the future after the company gives a reason.

Alderman Ronald Coleman said the cancellation is probably the result of the company not having sufficient information on which to determine the risk factor. A $100,000 judgment against the city when it was covered by the previous carrier may have been cited, Coleman said.

He said the insurance policy may be reinstated after the city's risk factor has been determined.

He later explained the city was to pay $7,500 for indemnity insurance covering police, aldermen and all city officials. Under the former policy, the city paid $4,500 per year for covering police officers only. "We felt this was the best policy for our money. Other companies submitted proposals as high as $11,400 which offered less coverage," Coleman explained.

Coleman said if the city is unsuccessful in convincing the National Sheriffs' Association company to reinstate the indemnity policy, the city may have to enter the state's high risk insurance pool, which would mean higher insurance rates.

How to get money out of your house without selling it.

You simply come to us for a real estate loan backed by your equity.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real estate

So the equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Call us. We've got your loan.

Price-conscious Illinoisans once outraged by $5 suite, $2 dress

Illinois in the nation's second hundred years is the theme of the winter issue of the Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society, Executive Director William K. Alderfer reports.

The issue begins with an eyewitness account of the Illinois Building at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876. In that year, Illinois, along with the rest of the country, was "taking stock and marking progress." More than 30 such contemporary accounts of Illinois life to 1976 are chronologically presented in seven chapters, each drawn from letters or reminiscences of Illinoisans or reports from rare published sources, all in the collections of the Illinois State Historical Library.

Illustrating the issue are more than 75 photographs, most of which have never before been printed. Many of the selections give details about familiar topics of general interest like health care, rural life, education, reform and politics.

License bureaus to close Jan. 14

All driver service facilities outside of Cook County in the secretary of state's office will be closed Friday, Jan. 14, in observance of the late Martin Luther King's birthday, an official holiday for state employees, Secretary Michael J. Howlett has announced.

Facilities will reopen Saturday morning, Jan. 15. Regular weekly schedule is from Tuesday through Saturday.

All other secretary of state offices throughout the state will support their families during the Great Depression; an Illinois sergeant's description of Hitler's "Eagle's Nest" headquarters; and reports of the first fallout shelter drill in a public building.

Other accounts are light-hearted: a Hamilton County adventurer and sailor records his impressions of the "exotic Orient" in 1902; members of a Quincy family gamely make their way through seven miles of "sludge" before the advent of "hard roads."

A Carroll County woman argues the case against "big business" in Savanna; and a Springfield law professor ruminates on the acting talents of Esther Williams and the prevalence of "flat top" haircuts on teenage boys.

Random comments reveal much about changing society: an educator's call for liberation of women from the kitchen in the 1870s, for example, and the explosion of "fast food" businesses a hundred years later.

A frequent observation, regardless of the year, is rising prices: a young laborer complains in 1894 that $16 a month is too much for room and board; a family of four in 1923 resents paying $5 nightly for a Danville hotel suite.

A woman complains to her senator that $2 is far too expensive for a rayon housedress

Record dividends from GI insurance

The Veterans Administration has announced it will pay a record $40.4 million in GI insurance dividends during 1977. VA Administrator Richard L. Roudsbush said the 1977 payments represent an increase of $26.6 million over the dividends paid in 1976.

Dividend payments will be made on the anniversary date of the individual policies. First checks are now being mailed, Roudsbush said.

Payments go to holders of three types of government insurance policies: United States Government Life Insurance, National Service Life Insurance and Veterans Special Life Insurance.

Roudsbush said $36.1 million of the total dividend will be paid to 3,500,000 World War II veterans who maintained their GI insurance policies.

The average payment to these veterans will be $104, an increase from the 1976 average payment of $95.

About 114,300 World War I Policy-holding veterans will receive $23.1 million in dividends, an average of $202, up from the $193 paid in 1976.

Approximately 550,000 Korean war veterans who kept their GI policies in force will receive $12.2 million in dividend payments. This is an average payment of $22, up from $18 this year. It is the first time the VA, explaining that an inquiry about a dividend could delay payment.

Dividends represent a return to policyholders of funds not needed to pay the cost of the insurance. This includes both excess interest earned and any savings realized because actual deaths were fewer than projected rates.

Dividends on most VA insurance policies have increased in recent years because the funds have been earning interest at higher rates. Roudsbush said this has operated to the benefit of veterans owning permanent type insurance plans, but has had little or no effect on those with term insurance where the interest element is small.

The VA administrator said some veterans will receive more than the average dividend payment and others less than the average.

Dividends will depend on the policy they hold, the amount of insurance, veteran's age at issue or renewal, and the length of time the policy has been in force.

Children's play at GCHS South Tuesday night

Children and parents that missed the children's play "The Golden Grotto, or Bracko the Prince Frog," presented Wednesday, will have a final chance to see it Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Granite City High School South auditorium.

Elementary school and preschool children are free. Adults are being charged 50 cents. The play is being presented by the South Central Interpretation I class under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Klaus.

The story is a legend turned upside down in a comedy for all ages. A magic groto under a castle provides the setting for the play.

GC DEMOCRATIC CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The next meeting of the Granite City Democratic Club will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, according to Mrs. Carole Kopis, president.

Mrs. Kopis said a guest speaker will attend the meeting and refreshments will be served during a social hour.

The Schermers Bulletin

We misplaced last week's bulletin. In the sadness following the death of our Uncle, Dr. David Friedman, many things were lost sight of. But, life goes on, and here we are writing another bulletin.

First of all Fryers are on sale and at 33¢ the price is right. The Ham Shank is really great... skinless, fatless, and just the thing for a change. Small eggs at 2 dozen for $1.00 could go right along with the 3 lb. Bacon ends and pieces for 99¢. Margarine at 3 lbs. for $1.00 is a real budget stretcher. This is pure vegetable margarine that you can use for the table, for baking, frying, or any other use.

So, we're starting the New Year right with some real values. Check every one and then head for your nearest Schermers Store 12th and Madison or Pontoon and Lake Drive.

Steelmaking with less energy use can be costly and complex

(American Iron and Steel Institute)

In this age of energy conservation, new and intensified programs of American steelmakers aim at reducing the energy required to manufacture a ton of shipped steel eight per cent by 1980, as compared with 1972. Further decreases are projected through 1990.

This is especially noteworthy when one considers that the steel industry is a major energy consumer, having used for a number of years five to six per cent of all energy consumed in the United States, or between 15 and 20 per cent of the energy consumed by industry.

Such an energy-saving goal was set on the basis of proven energy-saving techniques and the expectation of a steady growth in production without excessive environmental restraints.

New systems at home and abroad have been evaluated, considering such allied factors as capital costs, installation time and adaptability to American systems of production and environmental quality control.

The techniques of energy conservation in steelmaking fall readily into three categories:

(1) Retrofitting of proven processes into older facilities.

(2) New methods presently being developed.

(3) Housekeeping efforts which, once made, have a lasting effect.

Coal and coke remain predominant as sources of energy in the steel industry, although total Btu's decline. Purchased electricity has increased in importance, also, while oil and natural gas vary with availability and cost.

The trend of the iron and steel industry is to produce steel with less and less energy, a trend that began long before recognition of an "energy crunch."

Not only is it good economic stewardship, but it was no less valuable to the public interest then, as it certainly is now.

One example is iron ore pellets, which have largely replaced natural ores as a charge to ironmaking blast furnaces.

Pellets' high iron content and uniform size help make today's blast furnaces more efficient producers of the molten iron used primarily in basic oxygen furnaces (BOF's) and open hearth furnaces for raw steel manufacture.

Continuous casting is another energy-saving example, a method of solidifying molten steel directly into semifinished forms ready for rolling into products for shipment.

The alternative, traditional method involves several steps: pouring the molten steel into molds; solidifying the steel; removing the molds; reheating the ingots, holding the ingots at a temperature until they are uniformly hot throughout; and finally rolling them into semifinished form.

It takes no engineer to see that each continuous caster replaces several stages of heating and cooling, making it a much more energy-saving system.

However, the changeover is costly and time-consuming and requires extensive modifications to other parts of the steelmaking operation.

These are examples of proven processes that can, in certain cases, be retrofitted into existing plants.

There are also some newer energy conservation methods available.

One of the newer and most useful tools for conserving energy is the computer.

Steelmaking requires that many processes be synchronized. Raw materials obtained from widely separate locations must be ready for use at a specific time.

Once the manufacturing process has begun, any departure from schedule can be wasteful in many ways—most emphatically in terms of energy.

Other energy-conserving methods may add yet another step to conventional practice.

For instance, the element sulfur is the steelmaker's enemy. It takes time and energy in the furnaces to reduce the metal's sulfur content to acceptable levels.

An alternative method reduces sulfur content in a ladle (outside the furnace) by chemical means using considerable less energy.

Considering, for a moment, the energy-saving methods of the past and present—and accepting that the mere sampling is mentioned—it can be seen that major modifications of large, complex production systems are required to make significant reductions in energy requirements. Such changes in so large an industry require vast sums of money and must compete with other essential uses for the limited funds available.

For example, top priority must be given to the replacement of obsolete and worn-out facilities, keeping the technology up-to-date.

The law also requires steel plants to install equipment related to environmental quality control. Some of these control devices are significant consumers of energy.

In considering the third category of energy-conserving techniques, so homely a word as "housekeeping" scarcely fits the gigantic effort required to save energy in the furnace operations of the iron and steel industry. Yet, there is also a certain aptness.

Homeowners, for instance, know the difference extra insulation makes in their heating bills—although they don't have to pay millions of dollars for it, or close down their homes while it is installed.

Some examples of energy saving by tight control are quite homely, involving such matters as housekeeping on general-purpose heating and lighting.

Other examples involve better insulation and recovery of waste heat from furnace operations.

Carrying the insulation theme into sophisticated phases of operation, when furnaces are ready for relining, most companies install a layer of insulating material between the refractory brick and the steel shell of the furnace to reduce the heat loss.

The entire matter of preventing heat loss is extremely sensitive because its cure can be so expensive as to be counterproductive.

Rebuilding of furnaces, increasing their insulation, changing their burner systems and installing recuperators are all expensive. The work must be done with a minimum disruption of production and employment, too.

It is a fact of life in the steel industry that no two plants are set out the same or have identical facilities.

A purchasing agent cannot order a furnace or a rolling mill as if it were a refrigerator or washing machine.

Most steel industry facilities are extremely large, have extensive auxiliaries, are custom designed, often are built or installed over long periods of time and are expensive.

Modifications to these facilities can also be costly.

The shortage and higher cost of energy have made some projects feasible now that were once considered too costly. Yet, many projects are still uneconomical because of the capital shortage.

A case in point is the process used in Japan for capturing the off-gas from BOF's for re-use as a fuel.

This practice is acceptable at some Japanese plants where an acute fuel shortage warrants installation.

However, it is estimated that the same process, applied in the United States, with the necessary capital costs involved to convert to this system, is currently impractical in all cases and is expensive.

Energy prices are still not severe enough to justify retrofitting existing BOF plants to collect this gas, but the technology will undoubtedly be applied when economic circumstances make it worthwhile and as new pneumatic steelmaking facilities are built.

As mentioned earlier, coal and coke comprise by far the greatest source of energy used by steelmakers, although significant quantities of oil and natural gas are required by the present processes and plants in service.

The U.S. has abundant reserves of coal, whereas supplies of domestic oil and natural gas are critical.

Therefore, much study is being made of methods to substitute coal and its derivatives for that portion of oil and natural gas used by the iron and steel industry.

But there are substantial barriers—technical and economic—to overcome to obtain this desirable goal.

In the first place, substitution of coal for oil and gas may actually impose an energy-consumption penalty because coal does not burn with the efficiencies of these other fuels.

Secondly, for all its statistical abundance, not all types of coal are presently suitable for steel industry use.

The kind most suitable for the manufacture of coke for the blast furnace is low in sulfur. It is, also, much in demand by other industries in their attempt to meet environmental requirements.

Foreign steel producers also compete to buy this superior American fuel.

Consequently, domestic steel companies must use what they can get of the metallurgical grade coal and blend it with less suitable coals.

Either from an operational point of view or in the conservation of energy, this blending practice is not desirable, since there is an overall increase in Btu's required per ton of product with the blending of lower grade coals.

The substitution of coal for more critical fuels is easier to implement.

The steel industry has many processes where no technology currently exists by which coal or its derivatives—even electricity—could replace natural gas.

Certainly, it would also be considerably more expensive in both capital and operating cost to use liquid fuels and coal instead of natural gas in these operations.

More importantly, each steel plant operation was originally designed with a specific fuel in mind.

Not only are the burner systems themselves designed accordingly, but the burning chambers and exhaust flues are structured around the fuel choice.

As a result, conversion to another fuel does not entail the mere replacement of a burner. Rather, the entire facility may have to be restructured at considerable cost.

These barriers are recognized by the industry and significant efforts are under way to overcome them.

The massive materials-handling sequences, the "chemistry at high temperatures," the recurrent heating and cooling—all these things and many more comprise the many-faceted system called steel-making.

It is a system that evolved over three centuries based on a competitive economic restraint and then recently had another restraint imposed on it to provide environmental quality control.

Now, it is proposed that a third restraint aimed at conserving energy be imposed on the first two.

All three restraints are good in what they aim to do, but they are often not compatible.

They become even more delicately balanced for the public good when the need to make enough money to provide good equipment and jobs is considered relative to steelmaking, ecological improvement and energy conservation.

Required management decisions are based on an intimate knowledge of interrelationships and the art of the possible.

It is good economic sense to cut back on the amount of energy consumed per ton of product shipped. The steel industry's companies want to do it properly, without cutting back on the gains made in other phases of their operations and business.

Time is important—time and timing in management decisions.

Right now, for example, at least three major steel companies are working on blast furnaces that are larger and more productive with a lower heat loss per ton of product.

This is good timing in view of the present energy crisis, but the planning began long before the phrase "energy crisis" had any general usage. The decision to build was one aspect of good management.

Present and planned programs are evidence of the steel industry's determination to meet its commitments.

The eight per cent reduction in consumption of energy per ton of shipped steel by 1980 is realistic as judged by people who recognize both the potentials for and the barriers to its realization.

Meeting this goal will require the industry's dedicated attention to all the possible energy-saving techniques described earlier, and to others as well.

It can be accomplished if sufficient capital is available to carry out the equipment and process modifications required.

Income tax installment on Jan. 17

Central and Southern Illinois citizens who do not have enough taxes withheld are required to pay their final installment of 1976 estimated federal income tax no later than Monday, Jan. 17.

Those who owe the same day are amended estimates from citizens whose 1976 income changed substantially during the last quarter.

Many taxpayers first meet the requirements for filing a tax declaration during the last three months of 1976, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Taxpayers are generally required to file an estimate if they owe the IRS more than $100 not covered by withholding. The estimates in this case are due Jan. 17.

However, there is an exception to this rule, the IRS says. That is when taxpayers file their returns and pay all taxes due by Jan. 31.

In this case, the final 1976 installment is not required, the amended declaration is not required, nor is an original Jan. 17 declaration required.

IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," available free from the Springfield IRS office, provides additional information.

Woman arrested

Jaqueline Bradford, 28, of 2204 Lee Ave., was arrested by Granite City police at 3:56 p.m. Thursday and was charged with three counts of deceptive practices.

It is alleged she cashed checks on a closed bank account at three stores—Shoe Fair for $67, K-Mart for $34, and Schermer Men's and Boy's Shop for $194 and $61.

PRACTICAL POLITICS CLASS. Plans to begin an action course in practical politics are discussed by Mrs. Rosalie Portell, chairman of the legislation committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club, at left, Eric Robertson, a Granite City attorney and teacher of the course, and Linda Calvin, a senior at Granite City High School South, one of eight students being sponsored by the BPW. The class, sponsored by the BPW, is open to the public but is limited to 30. The BPW is sponsoring two students from each area high school, North, South, Venice and Madison. The course will be at the YMCA on Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., starting on Jan. 27. Information and details of the class may be obtained by calling Mrs. Portell at 876-4456. (Photo-Roscoe Photos)

1976 building tops $3.7 million value

A total of 618 building permits listing values totaling $3,762,928 were issued by Granite City during 1976, an unofficial tally of the year's permits revealed.

The total this year is $184,320 less than the 1975 permit total of $3,947,248, but the actual construction will be even farther behind, since the 1976 figures include a $1,000,000 permit for a new city hall which was to be constructed if an Economic Development Grant was received, and that grant was denied.

The 1976 total is far below the record of $13,228,529 set in 1965, and the $10,731,626 in total permits in 1968.

Each month of 1976 had permits issued for at least one major project. In January, a $141,000 permit was issued for Sambo's Restaurant and a $79,000 permit was issued for a metal building at N. L. Industries (National Lead).

February saw a $151,000 permit for a new Salvation Army Community Center building. In March, Reilly Tar and Chemical Co. was granted a $40,300 permit for a new tank foundation and Hundly Auto Leasing received a $35,000 permit for a new building.

Divestiture talk called a threat to basic firms

Dismemberment of major oil companies would increase dependence on foreign oil, stifle development of alternate energy sources, and jeopardize many of the nation's highly efficient basic industries, a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) executive contends.

J. P. Hammond, vice-president of public and government affairs, characterized proposed vertical and horizontal divestiture bills as "two of the most irrational proposals that emerged from the 94th Congress."

Summing up the case against breaking up the 18 largest integrated U.S. oil companies, Hammond said in Illinois during the weekend:

"Almost nothing Congress can do would drive our nation into deeper and deeper reliance on foreign oil than to mandate vertical divestiture, with all its problems and uncertainties."

"Secondly, if vertical divestiture is imposed on large oil companies, can there be any question that other basic industries will soon be placed on the same chopping block — especially when so many of them are so much more concentrated than the oil business?"

Assessing the potential impact of proposed horizontal divestiture, Hammond said, "The nation cannot afford to deny any company access to any field of energy development if we are to solve the critical energy problems that face us in the next few decades.

"Competition is the only real stimulant to innovation. We must have innovation in large doses if we do not want to be subservient to foreign oil-producing nations, either economically or politically."

"Of the nearly 4,000 different companies producing coal in the United States, only nine which produce significant amounts of coal are owned by oil companies. Yet, in a recent 10-year period, 49 of the 52 patents for developments in converting coal to synthetic fuels went to employees of the few coal companies owned by oil companies."

"Carl Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, has spoken out vigorously in opposition to horizontal divestiture."

"He sees participation in coal by oil companies as stimulating competition in his industry, and he welcomes the additional technical expertise and capital infusion that oil people have brought to coal."

Hammond said that while most of the oil company critics are back in the 94th Congress, "the chief difference between this Congress and the last one is that the Congressional majority and the Administration are now of the same party."

"We hope this will mean that instead of trying to make political points with energy legislation, our elected officials can concentrate on basic problems and on seeking reasonable and workable solutions to those problems."

"It is a time for partisan politics to be laid aside where energy matters are concerned. 'It is a time for business and government to join together to develop a coherent, comprehensive energy policy, at all times keeping the best interests of the nation in mind.'"

Hammond said this policy should include these basic factors:

—A pragmatic approach to energy conservation, one that encourages wise and efficient use of energy, but that will permit the economy to grow.

—Elimination of incentive-reducing price controls on domestic crude oil and new natural gas.

—More access to federally-controlled acreage, both onshore and offshore, for oil and gas development.

—A regulatory and political climate avoiding punitive legislation, such as the divestiture proposals.

—Elimination of bureaucratic harassments.

—A reasonable accommodation with environmental goals, in order that energy development can proceed without destructive effects on the environment, that nuclear plants can be built, and that coal can be mined and substituted for oil and gas in electric generating plants.

—A stable fiscal policy to permit accumulation of capital and to provide incentives to undertake the substantial risks involved in energy exploration, development and research.

—Intensive research in such areas as shale oil, synthetic fuels from coal, nuclear fusion and solar energy, with the objective of attaining their full development by the year 2000.

Use key to burglarize Benton home

Daniel Crockett, 2129a Benton St., discovered at 7 p.m. Thursday that his home had been burglarized and his own house key was used to gain entry.

Crockett told police he left his keys accidentally in the rear door lock of his home at 12:30 p.m. Thursday and when he realized his keys were still in the lock, he returned home to find it had been burglarized. The only things missing are the keys and about $5 worth of food.

BUDIG TO HEAD WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY
Dr. Gene A. Budig, president of Illinois State University, Normal-Bloomington, will become the 17th president of West Virginia University on July 1.

Modern Woodmen to elect Tuesday

An election of officers and a pizza party are planned by the Modern Woodmen of America, Camp 373 of Granite City, at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Top of the Barrel Restaurant, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue.

An alert employee at the Coachman Store, 2127 Edwardsville Road, failed an attempt to steal a money bag from the store at 5:40 p.m. Thursday.

An employee said three men entered the store and each went to a different part of the store. One employee tried to help one man while another employee helped a second. The third man then approached the counter, leapt over it and picked up a bag containing cash.

One employee told the man to drop the bag and he complied. The men then made small purchases and left the store in a blue Chevrolet Chevelle, possibly a 1973 model.

RONALD PENNELL
Seminar Speaker

Five seminars scheduled on general topics

A series of five one-night seminars on subjects of general interest to the public will be presented by the Tri-City Trades and Labor Assembly in cooperation with the Tri-Cities Area United Way. It was announced Friday.

First of the series will be held in the Tri-City YMCA Thursday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Ronald Pennell, speech and theater instructor and director of the debate team at Granite City High School South, will be the speaker. Pennell also is a member of the Granite City Federation of Teachers, Local 743.

He will speak on "The Five Levels of Personal Communication," covering (1) levels of communication; (2) expression of feelings; (3) behaviors cause of communication breakdowns; (4) owning feelings; and (5) listening.

The public is invited to attend, but reservations must be made by calling the Community Services Office, AFL-CIO, at 877-6780 prior to 5 p.m. Wednesday. A donation of 50 cents will be asked of those attending. Refreshments will be served.

Stricter rules for preparers of tax returns

Persons who prepare federal income tax returns for compensation are now faced with stricter rules than in the past, the Internal Revenue Service reports.

Under the Tax Reform Act of 1976, income tax preparers are subject to $25 fines for failure to furnish completed copies of returns or claims for refund to their clients; failure to furnish the returns or claims in the space provided; and failure to enter their identifying number along with their signature on each return or claim prepared.

In addition, tax preparers are now required to maintain copies of each return or claim for refund prepared for pay for a period of three years or, failing that, they must maintain a list containing the name and identifying number of each taxpayer served.

Each failure to do so will subject the tax preparer or his or her firm to a $50 fine, up to a maximum fine of $25,000 in any given tax year, according to the IRS.

While the IRS has no authority to set rules determining who may or may not prepare returns for pay, it cautions taxpayers who seek help to choose their tax return preparer "as carefully as they would a family doctor or attorney," since the taxpayer is ultimately responsible for the correctness of the return regardless of who prepares it.

Registration continues for extension courses

Registration for general study courses and college credit courses to be conducted by the Granite City Extension Center of Belleville Area College (BAC) will be conducted again today and tomorrow in preparation for the beginning of classes next week.

Registration both today and tomorrow will open at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 8 p.m. in Room 138 at Granite City High School South. All classes are $11 per credit hour.

Further information concerning the classes, most of which will run for 16 weeks, may be obtained by calling 876-7870.

Registration for courses to be conducted by the Madison Extension Center also will be held today, Tuesday and Wednesday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Registrations will be taken at the Madison High School.

Additional information concerning the courses at Madison may be obtained from Charles Steptoe, coordinator of the program, at 876-7010.

Steptoe said 12 persons are needed to constitute a class. Classes will last 16 weeks.

Venice High School is offering one extension course in physical fitness for adults, and classes are being formed by calling the Venice extension office during the school day.

Public Aid Director James L. Trainor and Department on Aging Director Kenneth W. Holland on Thursday signed an interagency agreement of cooperation to inform, elderly, low-income persons of the availability of U.S. Department of Agriculture food stamps and the benefits which can be derived from the use of food stamps.

Persons and families eligible for the program can buy a fixed amount of stamps depending on the size of the household—for a price arrived at through computation of the monthly net income and also receive additional free stamps which can be used to purchase additional food.

The Department on Aging will provide the Department of Public Aid with demographic data on senior citizen population by county, and will provide staff from 13 planning and service areas to attend training sessions conducted by the Department of Public Aid.

The training sessions will provide Aging Department staff members with program information which will permit statewide recruitment of participants in the program in the areas served.

The DPA will develop a specific training program, including dates and locations, and will provide informational material on the food stamp program for distribution at the training sites and for senior citizens who show an interest in the program.

Trainor and Holland said the contract represents a significant advance in our efforts to seek out individuals whose diets may be inadequate because of low income, and let them know how they can buy more food for their money by using food stamps.

Kiwanians hear membership tape

A tape recording on membership recruiting was played at the Thursday morning meeting of the breakfast Kiwanis Club at Charlie's restaurant.

The tape also suggests ways of improving attendance and emphasized the need for recruiting younger members.

Herbert Cammen, club president, obtained the tape recording from Kiwanis International.

Eleanor's Cheese and Mushroom Bake

1 1/2 cup chopped celery
1 1/2 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms
4 cups day old bread or rolls (cubed)
2 cups (8 oz.) sharp cheddar cheese
2 eggs
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Saute onions and celery in butter. Add mushrooms and cook until tender. In greased 2 qt. casserole, layer half bread and then mushroom mixture and cheese. Repeat layers. Beat eggs, milk and seasonings. Pour evenly over bread mixture. Bake in preheated 325°F. oven for 45 minutes. Serves six.

BAKED CHICKEN AND BISCUITS
Recipe
1 broiler-fryer, cut up
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 soup can water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Paprika
Salt, pepper
1 package refrigerator
biscuits
Celery seeds
Arrange chicken in baking dish just large enough to hold the pieces side by side. Mix soup and water with crushed bouillon cube, add to baking dish. Dot chicken with butter. Sprinkle with paprika, salt and pepper. Cover, bake in moderate oven (350°F) about 40 minutes. Remove cover, arrange refrigerator biscuits on chicken.
Sprinkle with celery seeds. Bake uncovered, until biscuits are brown and chicken is tender, about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Public Notice 34

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION - TO: ROBERT PIERSON
(FATHER OF MICHAEL E.
PIERSON) 76-J-440 and to All
Whom It May Concern:
Take notice that on the 23rd day of December, 1976 a petition was filed under the Juvenile Court Act by State's Attorney in the Circuit Court of Madison County entitled "In the interest of Michael E. Pierson, a minor", and that in Circuit courtroom at Edwardsville on the 19th day of January at the hour of 1:30, or as soon thereafter as this cause may be heard, an adjudicatory hearing will be held upon the petition to have the child declared to be a ward of the court under that Act. The court has authority in this proceeding to take from you the custody and guardianship of the minor, and to appoint a guardian with power to consent to adoption of the minor.
Now, unless you appear at the hearing and show cause against the petition, the petition may be taken for confessed as against you and each of you, and an order, judgment or decree entered.

Talent, teen events in July

Three youth programs are coming up in Illinois this summer. The Little Miss Illinois Talent Contest, the Miss Illinois Teen Queen Pageant and the Midwest Country Music Association Contest. All three programs will be held at the Peoria Hilton Hotel on July 1 and 2.

The association will present a program for music participants, both male and female. Categories are gospel, folk and country music. Regional winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to national finals. Trophies will be given to the best male and female vocalist in the age categories of 8-12 and 13-18, to the most versatile entertainer, to the one who rates highest in stage presence and also the one most photogenic.

Girls aged 8-12 are eligible to enter the Little Miss Illinois Talent Contest. They will be judged in the performing arts, categories of which are baton, acrobatics, vocal, instrumental, dance variety. Five runnersup also will be chosen.

Awards will be presented for stage presence, congeniality, most photogenic and personality. The current Little Miss Illinois Talent is Marybelle Mitchell of Chicago.

Girls who would be eligible to enter the Miss Illinois Teen Queen Pageant must be between 15 and 17 inclusive. They will be judged on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, contributions to mankind and personality. Awards will be for personality, leadership, stage presence, congeniality and most photogenic. Current Miss Illinois Teen Queen is Camille Stompanato of Elk Grove.

State finals for the Little Miss and Teen Queen programs are preliminary to national finals.

Youth arrested in theft of sun glasses

John Barth, 19, of 56 Rivera Drive, was released at 5:30 p.m. State finals for the Little Miss and Teen Queen programs are preliminary to national finals.

Police said they were told a youth put a pair of sunglasses in his pocket at Reese Drugs, 326 Nameoki Road, and on leaving the store stopped to buy two cigars.

When confronted about the sun glasses, he allegedly made threatening remarks toward a customer and a store employee who were trying to prevent him from leaving the store until the manager was called.

The youth was reported to have removed the sun glasses from his pocket, thrown them down and said, "If this is the way it's going to be I just won't buy anything and might never come back into this store."

He then reportedly left, but employees got the license number and the description of the car.

Police arrested Barth at his home at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

CHURCH BURGLARY

Some parts for a public address system are the only things known missing after a burglary at New Hope Baptist Church, Route 1 and Moffat Street, Mitchell, discovered at 7:45 a.m. Thursday. Entry was gained by prying open the southeast exit door. The basement was ransacked. The public address system parts were stolen from inside the pulpit.

INAUGURAL INVITATION. Lena Kalips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kalips, 2614 Iowa St., received this invitation to the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter. She has been writing to Carter since summer and has received a reply each time. The last letter she sent was in late October after a mock election which Carter won, at Webster School where she is a fourth-grade student. The invitation was sent as a reply.

Business progress, area development concerns of Chamber of Commerce

The Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has done and is doing much to improve the area through business progress, community development and public affairs, Roger A. Higgins, president, told the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club in the YMCA.

He noted that the Chamber is "action-oriented and concerned with the present and future welfare of the Quad-Cities area."

He listed 23 areas of recent accomplishments of the chamber:

1. Helped annex area to Belleville Area College (BAC) instead of Lewis & Clark—result large tax savings.

2. Helped promote extension service—local classrooms—by Belleville Area College.

3. Working with Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and legislators for a better business climate for local industries.

4. In constant touch with elected officials, local, state and national, on legislation affecting the area.

5. Was instrumental in bringing Archer Daniels Midland Co., soybean processing plant, to the area.

6. Helped secure funds and clearance for Highway 209 from Mitchell to Granite City.

7. Helped secure funds and clearance for completion of PA Route 151 from Niedringhaus Avenue to Venice.

8. Worked with State Highway Department and local officials to update traffic signals on all thoroughfares in the area, including lighting at some intersections.

9. Held hearing with Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) and railroads in Springfield regarding the crossing hazard at West Pontoon Road, resulting in an ICC order to railroads to update their signals and traffic gates.

10. Worked with ICC and railroads to repair rough railroad crossings in the area.

11. Worked with Bi-State Transit System to secure bus service to Pontoon Beach.

12. Worked with B.E.D., state organization, in an effort to bring new industry into the area and expand existing industry.

13. Held monthly meetings with labor and management people to promote better labor image.

14. Worked with BAC and state to aid senior citizens—RSVP program.

15. Worked with all local taxing bodies in an effort to control and reduce spending and taxes.

16. Worked with school superintendents in the area to promote competitive enterprise education for teachers and students.

17. Worked to establish access road behind Granite City shopping centers.

18. Helped to establish 18th Street truck route.

19. Establishing Community Pride Program—Logo was accepted.

20. Women's Division prepared Newcomer's Handbook.

21. Women's Division prepared area post cards.

22. Prepared "Community Profile" brochure for prospective industry.

23. Worked to establish sidewalks, crossroads and thoroughfares to High School North.

and the chairman then reports to the board at the monthly board meeting," Higgins said.

"The Public Relations Committee headed by Kenneth Evers is a very active committee, now putting together a new brochure for the Tri-Cities area which will contain such things as places to shop, places to dine, places to stay, and driving distances to local places of interest."

"The Sewers and Drainage Committee headed by Dave Partney has been extremely active on township sewers and has gone all-out to help obtain easement signatures. Right now they are attempting to get together with the Corps of Engineers and the Metro-East Sanitary District on surface drainage."

Future topics for the chamber board to consider, according to Higgins, include law enforcement, sentencing, should probation law be continued, zoning laws and special use permits, long-range traffic patterns for area, parking restrictions, and assigned parking areas. McKinley bridge repairs and restoration, does the area need a municipal airport, should the chamber have a political action committee, should there be a tax break for new industry, and how should downtown Granite City be rehabilitated.

"The Crime Prevention and Control Committee has been particularly active. It instituted the Kube $1,000 reward, worked on bicycle safety, cooperated closely with the police departments in the area, worked closely with the judicial in the county and kept in close touch with the general assembly and our senator."

"The Education Committee has accomplished a great deal by assisting the local school superintendents and Belleville Area College. The BIE (Business, Industry, Education) Day was very successful and will be continued. Headed by Dr. Geo. T. Wilkins Sr., it was an extremely active committee."

"The Governmental Affairs Committee headed by Cliff Blankenship has made accomplishments almost too many to mention. They seem to be on top of everything in government, local, county, state, and national. Just recently they completed a legislative luncheon which was exceedingly productive."

"The Highway, Traffic and Transportation Committee headed by Dick Kerch has been extremely active in all phases of traffic conditions in the county, all the way from aid on construction of new highways to signalization. At the moment, it is working on cleaning up the hazardous corner at State Aids and Highway 162."

"The Real Estate and Insurance Committee chaired by Andrew Gitchoff keeps in close contact with changes in insurance laws and reviews the Chamber's policies in effect at regular intervals."

"The Labor-Management Committee headed by Walter Sharran is doing a great deal to promote better relations between labor and management. They meet once each month, which is true of all committees."
